3 Boys Honored In Saving A Life

NEW BOSTON — The New Boston Rotary Club presented three Huron Junior High School students with plaques at the club's last Tuesday evening meeting.

The three boys, Gary Adaline, 15; Larry Shaffer, 12; and his brother Gary Shaffer, 16, were responsible in saving the life of a close friend of theirs, Rocky Bruce. The accident occurred at the Bruce residence at 19010 Craig St.

The boys were credited for their action and quick thinking in extinguishing a fire which surrounded the victim by pouring sand on the boy which saved him from severe burns.

Rocky Bruce was also present at the Rotary meeting as a guest of the club. He displayed his injuries which were classified as second degree burns.

Gene Rakotz, president-elect of the New Boston Rotary was also given credit by the victim's father, who stated.

"Mr. Rakotz saved my boy from suffering more severe burns by emerging him in cold water immediately after the accident."

He was most thankful to the three boys and Rakotz and indicated so by saying, "I am most grateful to all of you for making it possible to have my son with me here tonight."

President Ed Dulecki responded by saying "we are proud to give recognition to these young boys for their unselfish deeds."

Federal Grant Is Approved For Summer Job-Training

A $33,883 Federal Grant to help finance a summer job-training program was announced this week by Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District).

The grant was approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) for the Wayne County OEO, which will provide an additional $10,477 in local funds.

Target of the five-month program will be 6,000 youths, aged 14 through 25, in eight communities, including four in the 15th Congressional District — Taylor, Romulus, Inkster and Sumpter Township.

The other four municipalities are Ecorse, River Rouge, Highland Park and Hamtramck.

Congressman Ford said that the summer program, to begin July 1, is designed to identify a variety of job slots which will provide work experience and training for low income youths, and then recruit candidates for the jobs.

"The young people themselves will be involved in the planning, organizing and implementation of their own educational and job-development activities," Ford said.

Richard Howlett, acting director of the Wayne County OEO, said that young people on Youth Councils in each of the eight target areas will direct the job search and recruitment.

Congressman Ford said that the program will be especially useful during the current recession, with unemployment in Michigan nearing eight percent.

"It has been estimated that two-thirds of high school seniors graduating this spring will not be able to find employment," Ford said. "This program, at least in the chosen areas, should help a lot of them find jobs that will lead to further training and permanent employment."

Mahalak's Bill Will Aid School District's Program

ROMULUS — State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D) Romulus is co-sponsor of a bill, recently approved by the House of Representatives, which will give intermediate school districts greater ability to carry on special programs for mentally handicapped children.

The bill (HB 3920) passed the House by a 71 to 0 vote and is now under consideration by the Senate.

"This legislation," Mahalak said, "will increase the ability of intermediate school districts to provide services for the retarded. Under terms of the bill, as approved in the House, the intermediate districts would have new and needed authority to buy, construct, lease or otherwise acquire facilities to conduct a program for trainable mentally handicapped persons."

He pointed out that under present law intermediate districts are restricted as to their programs for retarded children. "They can operate or contract for programs for trainable retarded children, but are not allowed to provide the proper facilities for these programs. This is doing only half the job," Mahalak stated. "This bill would help eliminate present inadequate facilities by giving the intermediate districts the means to acquire funds for the construction and maintenance of facilities when local districts will not assume this responsibility."

He added, "This legislation is a major step in assuring the parents of every mentally handicapped child that there will be accessible facilities to train their child to the fullest of his ability."

As a safeguard against abuse of borrowing power, Mahalak noted, borrowing and bonding for mentally retarded training facilities is limited in the bill to 1.5 percent of the total assessed valuation of the intermediate district for 30 years.

Also, borrowing must be approved by the voters in the district.

"Hopefully, the Senate will act on this bill as soon as possible," Mahalak said. "This is seriously needed legislation."

Democrats Endorse Morris

ROMULUS — Carl W. Morris, candidate for Michigan's 38th Legislative District in the Aug. 4 general primary election, has received the endorsement of the Romulus Democratic Club.

The endorsement was termed by political veterans at the club's June 18 meeting held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, a "stunning upset" over State Representative Edward E. Mahalak, incumbent, who is seeking another two-year term in Lansing.

Morris in announcing his candidacy last week promised, if elected, a "vigorous, productive office at Lansing."

The 38th District includes the cities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren in Wayne County, and the townships of Ash, Berlin, Exeter, London, Raisinville, Summerfield, Milan, Dundee and Ida in Monroe County.

Morris, 54, is currently president of the Romulus Community Schools' Board of Education and the Wayne County Intermediate School District. He is making his initial step into the political field.

He is a life long resident of the Romulus Community and one of its prominent leaders.

He has been and is active in many local, county, state and national educational fields.

Morris is the fourth generation of a Romulus family that dates back to 1847.

He and wife, Beulah, who are parents of four children, reside at 13599 Huron River Dr.

Famous Rouge Plant Tour Is A Summertime 'Must'

Now's the time to add another "must" to the list of summertime things to do — tour Ford Motor Company's world-famous Rouge manufacturing area in Dearborn, Mich.

More than 150,000 persons are expected to take summer tours of the 1,200-acre Rouge, the largest single industrial concentration of manufacturing and assembly operations in the world. The world-famous Rouge is located just 15 minutes from downtown Detroit.

Last year, visitors came from every state and all U.S. possessions, as well as from 108 foreign countries. Japan, Germany and France contributed the largest numbers of foreign visitors.

During the tour of steel operations, visitors see glowing ingots of steel being rolled into bars and sheets for fabrication. In the Dearborn Stamping Plant, they watch huge presses stamp out car roofs, fenders and side panels.

The final assembly tour dramatizes how, through careful planning and split-second timing, parts and sub-assemblies for all body styles meet on the final assembly line at just the right moment to make each Cougar or Mustang as ordered.

By the time each car reaches the end of the 1,000-foot assembly line, more than 15,000 parts have been assembled and the finished automobile is driven away under its own power — at the rate of one car every 55 seconds.

During model changeover beginning the end of June, the final assembly line will be closed to visitors, but tours of the steel and stamping operations will continue.

Between tours, "shutterbugs" can photograph friends and family in new-model Ford Motor Company cars, trucks, tractors and recreational vehicles parked on a terrace adjoining the reception lobby. Tourists also can view a display recreating "Philco-Ford's Forty Years in Television." It shows television's development from a laboratory curiosity to a major industry and the workings of color television.

Admission-free tours of the Rouge start every half-hour between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, except for holidays.

Tours begin in the visitors' reception center in the east concourse of the Ford Central Office Building, Michigan Avenue and Southfield Rd., Dearborn.

Large groups are asked to make advance reservations for Rouge tours by calling (313) 322-0034.

PTA Groups Join Up

The National Congress of Colored Parents and Teachers (NCCPT) became a part of the multi-million-member National PTA in special ceremonies at the 45th annual convention of the NCCPT being held (June 21-23) at the American Hotel in Atlanta, Ga.

Unification of the two organizations was declared in a joint statement issued by Mrs. E.R. Gay, president of the NCCPT, and Mrs. Leon S. Price, president of the National PTA.

"NCCPT and the National PTA are fully agreed that the purposes of NCCPT as a separate organization have been fulfilled and that the time has come for all PTA's to join into one unified organization which will continue as the National PTA," the presidents announced.

Mrs. Gay and Mrs. Price expressed their conviction that the unification will produce an even stronger and more vital PTA movement throughout this country.

Ceremonies followed a report highlighting major events in the forty-four year history of the NCCPT. After signing a declaration of unification, Mrs. Gay and Mrs. Price passed out pens used in the ceremony to officials and past national presidents of the two organizations.

Even though functioning as individual organizations over the years, the NCCPT and the National PTA have cooperated continuously since 1926. It was then that the two organizations began efforts to assist and strengthen PTA's formed in schools for black children.

Since that time, the organizations have exchanged representation at their national conventions, arranged for the interchange of ideas and information, and have worked closely on important issues in the area of human relations.

"The final cooperative effort of the organizations has been the unification of the NCCPT and the National PTA into one, viable group of citizens whose major goal is quality living and quality learning for all Americans," the presidents said.

Island 4-H'ers Learn To Fly

BEAVER ISLAND, MICH. — This northern Lake Michigan island is unique in many ways, but is especially unique in the world of 4-H. The domain of King Strang and a colony of Mormons in the 1800's "is one of the few, if not the only, 4-H flying club in the United States aiming for 100 percent official pilot certification," points out Keith Lamkin, extension 4-H youth agent for the Emmet, Charlevoix and Cheboygan county area.

William Welke, a Beaver Island resident formerly of Walpole Lake, serves as leader for the 4-H flying club.

The professional pilot owns and operates two planes and has carved a landing strip out of a forest on his property a few miles south of St. James, the port town of the 6 by 12 mile island about 40 miles west of Mackinaw City.

Welke recently explained that since last October he has been teaching the all-boy group general aviation information and Federal Aeronautics Administration (FAA) regulations. A stack of well-worn FAA flight regulation manuals, creased maps and a display of dexterity with course-altitude calculators by several of the boys supported the statement.

"What are the four factors affecting an airplane in flight?" Welke asked a 14-year-old.

"Thrust, drag, gravity and lift," the young man answered quickly.

Welke predicted, "We should have a couple of boys out of this group with pilot licenses by next year. Some will be qualified sooner but will have to wait until they are 16 years of age — the minimum age for private pilot license certification."

He pointed out that the boys are attentive and develop a rapid understanding of the voluminous materials.

"Maybe they just want to be able to get away from here in the winter," he said half-jokingly in reference to the some 200 permanent residents' isolated condition when Lake Michigan freezes, stopping ferry boat trips to the mainland. Then airplanes are the only means of transportation to and from the island.

The boys have been meeting with Welke every Tuesday evening at the island's single school.

"This has been an enriching experience for these young people considering their limited opportunities," emphasizes one of the four Roman Catholic nuns who serve as teachers for the kindergarten through twelfth grade public school.

All 14 of the boys in the club have flown with Welke. The boys — 11 to 16 years of age — start flying lessons in Welke's two-seater this summer after demonstrating a thorough understanding of instrument reading, flying regulations, map reading, course plotting and other required material.

Another Fourth

It has often been said that U.S. citizens have lived in a condition of freedom for so long they have forgotten the evils of oppression.

We take for granted the individual worth of a person, equal rights under the law, acceptance of government as a protector and referee for all citizens and the presumption of innocence until proven guilty.

With the approach of another Fourth of July, the words of Dr. John A. Howard, president of Rockford College, as he views these matters, should have a special meaning: "Having grown up with these concepts as the conditions of our living, we cannot comprehend, we cannot register upon how revolutionary they were when first proclaimed, nor do we realize how they contrast with what exists in the police state nations, nor how they differ from contemporary democracies that carry still the deep-rooted psychological mind-set of their monarchical heritage.

"The existence of a House of Lords and a House of Commons maintains the message that the common man, even risen to the highest position, remains a commoner.

"By contrast, in our country, with our inheritance of assumptions, the phrase 'second-class citizen' very rightly stirs indignation...."

We should think about these things on this Fourth of July, 1970.

Poetry Corner

Meadow Lark's Song

Chattering gophers in my garden
Burrow in the loam or sand,
And the green begins to show
In my sun-browned pastureland.

And the sound of singing birds
Is of spring a welcome part—
Their sweet calls and songs of praise
Bring a real thrill to my heart.

Now I hear the meadowlark's
Song, so very sweet and clear—
Strong, pure notes a-pouring forth
Songs of springtime love and cheer.

As God's creatures are so happy,
Like the birds, we too should sing
Praises to The Lord who made us,
Even as He makes each spring.

Warning Issued

LANSING — Watch out for "blow-ups" on concrete highways on hot afternoons in early summer, the Department of State Highways warns motorists.

The blow-ups occur at pavement joints, usually in late afternoon after a day of intense heat.

Michigan's temperatures have varied from a 51 degrees below zero in winter to 112 above in summer.

Concrete expands and contracts under heat and cold so engineers build expansion joints into concrete highways. After a highway has been in use for a number of years, however, moisture, sand, stones and gravel sometimes work into the joint, causing it to "fail" under extreme temperatures. When this happens, chunks of concrete pop or "blow up" at the joint, causing a hazard to driving and requiring immediate attention.

In the last six years, neoprene seals have been used on joints to seal out foreign materials, but on older highways, blow-ups can still be a hazard.

Position, Statement Issued By Club

ROMULUS - The Democratic Club of the city of Romulus, under the temporary leadership of Charles R. Kline, has issued a challenge to the people of Romulus - voters and non-voters - to become active in your community and district political affairs.

"It will only be through the efforts of all people young and old, new and long time residents, that we as a community can once again become a central vocal and pivot point within this area," he announced.

Kline has raised the question of no officials recognition of the two democratic clubs within Romulus on the floor of the 15th Democratic District Club last week and has received word from John Canfield, president, that the 15th Democratic District Club will not recognize one over the other, Canfield stated:

"I know of no right that this club (15th) has in the endorsing of any club or group of people as far as being Democrats. I would hope that the people in Romulus would get together and settle their differences."

The feeling among the temporary steering committee, and its members, is that no group should haphazardly endorse candidates or issues not consistent with the wishes and desires of the members, and that no endorsement of candidates or issues should occur without first hearing all candidates and all sides of issues that are on hand.

Kline stated that as long as he remains in the position that he presently holds, the people - members or not - shall be given that option and opportunity to hear from all candidates, from all people, and from all sides in issues before recommendations would be forthcoming.

"The practice of following blindly as the executive board decrees had been done in the past, but now we are living in a world of communication and transportation and people should not be looked upon as being pawns, but rather individuals who have minds that think and can differentiate between what is good and bad for themselves and for their community," he added.

This was the main reason for the effort that is now being placed with the Democratic Club of the City of Romulus - to speak to people, and to think of people as people, as individuals who have the common sense and intelligence of realizing that the old "Political Machine" is dead, club officials stated.

Kline declared that unless people, the new comers and the long time residents, take a stand, speak out, be heard, support actively that in which they believe, then a small minority shall forever hold the reins of their lives, their community, and their providence.

Kline is instituting a new procedure that all people not registered to vote can do so at any time at the meetings of the Democratic Club of the City of Romulus which are held every two weeks on Thursday

It matters not whether one becomes a member of this group or not to sign up for voter registration, but it does matter whether one can vote or not. It is your community and your vote does count no matter which way you vote. Come to the meetings and get registered, he urges.

The next meeting to be held shall be tomorrow with the guest speaker Senator William Faust, present incumbent, running for re-election for the 13th Senatorial District.

On the same speaking date shall be Carl Morris, candidate for the position of State Representative of the 38th District.

According to Kline, this shall be just the start of main speakers and of issues that will be available to all people so that they may hear, listen and choose for themselves what they feel is right.

At the last meeting a By-Law committee of five were nominated and elected for the drafting of the Democratic Club of the City of Romulus' Constitution.

Those serving on the committee are Charles R.

Kline, chairman, Frank Murphy, candidate for delegate Precinct Four, John Roundtree, candidate for delegate Precinct Eight, Michael Massong, candidate for delegate Precinct Two, and Lawrence Plank, candidate for precinct delegate One.

The final draft of the By-Laws of the Democratic Club of the City of Romulus, the name of which has been filed with the county, shall be published for all to read and for all to comment on pro or con, and shall be there to serve the people of the Democratic Club, and not to be served by anyone.

Kline once again asks all interested people to come and attend the meetings of the Democratic Club of the City of Romulus and partake in the affairs of your community and of your area.

"What occurs today will affect our children, and probably their children after them. To be strong we must be united, and to be united we must work together as one and not as small individual units," he stated.

For further information please call Charles R. Kline at 941-5677.

Helping Hand Thrift Shop Elects Officers

ROMULUS - The Helping Hand Thrift Shop has a new slate of officers.

The volunteer-operated shop's first slate of officers are: Mrs. Florence Klein, president; Mrs. Catherine Pritula, vice president; Mrs. June Blanton, secretary; and Mrs. Mable Moore, treasurer.

The Helping Hand Thrift Shop, located at 7335 Washington St., will be closed to the public during the summer. Date for re-opening will be published.

The summer, Mrs. Klein reports, will be spent re-organizing, preparing projects for the coming year.

Since the shop's opening last September, volunteer workers have donated over 5,000 hours of their time to assist the community's needy in the following ways:

Articles given to needy persons and families, free of charge totaled 8,023 with 2,032 persons helped and 211 families given assistance.

Articles received from hospitals and institutions amounted to 3,169 including 418 new baby items and 760 used baby items.

Mrs. Blanton and Mrs. Pritula, co-chairman of a Sewing Project for the seventh and eighth graders at St. Aloysius School, reported that approximately 30 volunteers assisted in completing 62 new items for the children.

In another sewing class held in the memory of Mrs.

Mae Coles Mothers Group about a dozen persons gave aid. They taught the fundamentals of hand sewing and completed one dress and skirt during five sewing sessions.

The shop's new officials want to extend sincere appreciation to all volunteers and for cash donations as well as donations of needy items.

A special thanks was issued to officials of the Romulus Progressive Club for its recent donation.

Club Will Hear Faust

ROMULUS - Incumbent Senator William Faust (D-13th District) has consented to speak at the next meeting of the Democratic Club of the city of Romulus to be held tomorrow, Thursday, at the L & L Hall, located 11114 Sterling St. Beginning at 8 p.m.

This meeting will be the beginning of an intensified program by the above Democratic organization to present to the people of this community, and the surrounding areas an opportunity to see and listen to people such as Senator Faust as to his stand on many vital issues.

The Senator and temporary president Charles R. Kline of the Democratic Club of the City of Romulus have conferred and agreed that no group should give blind endorsement for any

All people, young and old are invited to attend this speaking engagement so that they may raise those questions pertinent to their way of thinking.

I feel that the works and experience that I have qualifies me to be able to serve you well as the next Supervisor of Sumpter Township.

I am 44 years-old, the father of 10 children. My oldest daughter, Belinda, is a Junior at Eastern Michigan University. Diane Marie has just completed studies at Washtenaw Community College with plans to enroll at Eastern this fall. Melvin Thomas Wiley completed high school June 4, at Airport Community High School and Riccardo is a senior.

Walter Wiley Seeks Post Of Supervisor In Sumpter

SUMPTER - Walter Wiley, 44, of 47430 Wear Rd., has filed nominating petitions for the post of supervisor of Sumpter Township. He is running on the Democratic ticket. In announcing his candidacy, Wiley said:

"On Tuesday, June 16, I filed for the office of Supervisor for the Township of Sumpter.

It was with great apprehension and deep concern for the citizens, both black and white, both men and women, boys and girls. From the oldest to the youngest amongst us.

I came to Sumpter Township fourteen years ago, a growing community but isolated. I found a determined people to shake the shackles of geographic boundaries and proclaimed its identity as a civil division of Wayne County. Only to have each succeeding administration in the Town Hall discourage and retard the efforts of these gallant people, to make our community a better place to live.

I am fortunate and pleased to have been a part of this effort, more often than not in a leadership role. With ideas and innovations we were able to organize and gain some measures of improvement in our lives, both economically, socially and educationally. This I feel are the qualifications of a Supervisor.

Reviewing briefly some of the gains made in the last five years, over a million dollars have been spent in Sumpter through the (O.E.O.) the Office of Economic Opportunity.

I was in Benton Harbor in May of 1965 shortly after the program had been signed into law. I asked many questions of the program. I left this meeting determined to see the program implemented in Sumpter Township.

It meant many hours of door to door discussion getting people involved in the program.

Out of this program came, teachers aides, tutorial service, free lunches, "Upward Bound", a medical center and the Head Start program, just to mention a few.

Through re-organization of our schools we have improved by the most conservative

Special Meeting Dates Slated

NEW BOSTON — The Huron School Board announced the meeting dates of two forthcoming meetings.

The Board will hold a special Board meeting, Monday June 29 at 8 p.m. This meeting, according to Superintendent Bryon Antcliff, will enable the District to "clean up the remaining bills" and therefore to get all matters taken care of for the annual audit.

The Board will hold their organizational meeting Monday, July 13. At that meeting, the new Board members will establish the meeting dates for the coming year, plus elect officers.

Summer Traveling Safety Tips Issued

*With school out and many Michigan residents taking to the highways for that long-awaited summer vacation trip, Secretary of State James M. Hare had some "people-saving" advice for hot weather driving.

*"Summer pressures with stepped-up social activities can lead to unhappy results for many drivers.

"It's a time of increased traffic and increased safety hazards."

*Warning drivers to use care and common sense to combat summer driving hazards, Hare offered these suggestions for summer traveling safety. . .

*Check automobile equipment. A car stalled in traffic is a hazard to everyone.

*While country driving, be alert for: farm lanes with emerging vehicles; narrow bridges with concrete sides; bridges and culverts in poor condition; slow-moving farm implements; animals wandering onto the highway.

*If towing a trailer, make sure the trailer has two car attachments.

*Leave a safe following distance from the car ahead. . . at least one car length for every 10 miles of speed. Leave even more room if towing a trailer.

*Load automobile carefully so passengers and luggage won't interfere with driver's view of the road or hamper his driving movements.

*Traveling at night with a heavy load in the car or trailer may direct headlights at a higher angle. This will blind oncoming motorists. Be particularly courteous about dimming headlights for the convenience of other traffic.

*Highway fatigue kills. If traveling far, take rest breaks along the way.

*Speed too fast for conditions is a leading cause of collisions. Bad roads, heavy traffic, poor weather demands slower speeds.

Feminine First-Mates Get Boating's First-Aid Tips

In this dawning Age of Aquarius, it is entire families that "go down to the sea in ships." Boating, in the last decade, has grown to be a family sport.

In his role as captain, the pater familias keeps the craft shipshape, the boat on course, and the crew (usually a gaggle of small fry) out of trouble. The first-mate, otherwise known as Mom, is in charge of the galley and the first-aid department.

While checking out the larder, the Bayer Company suggests, you should also make a close check on the first-aid cabinet aboard ship. Being prepared when illness or accident strikes is half the battle, since medical assistance is usually a long way off.

Every boat, no matter what its size, should have a supply of the following: several rolls of bandage, adhesive bandages and tape, alcohol, a soothing, medicated cream or spray, aspirin for relieving pain, seasickness pills, an antiseptic, tweezers for removing splinters.

At the outset, Mom and Dad should know how to handle certain problems that turn up when boating. First, of course, is sunburn. If the burn is severe or blistered, see your doctor. For a moderate burn, a soothing, medicated cream or spray applied after a gentle, cool shower will offer soothing relief. Take a couple of aspirins to relieve the pain. Light, loose clothing will be less abrasive to sensitive areas.

Sunstroke is another possibility, and it can be very dangerous. Symptoms are high body temperature with flushed and dry skin. Get to a doctor as quickly as possible.

In the meantime, you can reduce the body's temperature by having the person lie down in a cool place with head and shoulders elevated. Apply cold water or ice to the head. Wrapping in wet sheets or putting him into a shower of cold water will also help reduce the fever.

If the small fry pick up splinters while playing on the dock, carefully clean the area with alcohol. Pick out the splinter with either a tweezer or a needle that has been sterilized over flame. Wash the area again and apply an adhesive bandage.

Every ship should have this hard and fast rule: each child must wear a life preserver at all times. It should be the approved type that insures that a child falling into the water will automatically float face up until he is rescued.

All members of the crew, furthermore, should know how to administer artificial respiration. The victim should be placed on his or her back. Lift the neck and tilt the head back. Hold the victim's nostrils closed, take a deep breath and place your mouth completely over the victim's mouth, so no air escapes. Blow air into the mouth until you see the chest rise. At this point, remove your mouth and let the victim exhale. Repeat about 12 times a minute.

For infants and small children, place your mouth over the child's mouth and nose. Babies require only small puffs of air from rescuer's cheeks. Repeat 20 to 30 times per minute. Be sure not to tilt the infant's head back too far.

With everything under control, it should be smooth sailing ahead all summer long!

Huron District To Fight Sewer Fees

NEW BOSTON — The Huron Board of Education voted June 15th to engage an attorney to set aside the present sewer tap-in fees charged to the District by the Huron Township.

Explaining the Board action Monday, Superintendent Bryon Antcliff said that the District is being assessed $66,500 for the sewer tap-in.

Antcliff said that this charge is based on an assessment of a flat fee of $500 per room. Antcliff said, for example, the fee for the Hannan Road School is $14,000.

The Superintendent said that Huron Township Supervisor George Angel was in attendance at the Board meeting to explain the Township's charges to the School District. Antcliff said that Angel had said that the tap-in fees were drawn up on the advice of bonding experts, and that tap-in fees would help cover further sewer expansion in the Huron Township.

That the School District had presented figures to the Township officials stating that the School District believed the fees to be too high.

Citing the Hannan Road School tap-in fee of $14,000, Antcliff explained that the tap-in figure for a school of the same size in the Woodhaven School District was only $500.

Antcliff said that the Board had voted to hire the attorney Kirby Wilson to represent them in this matter.

Speaking for the School Board, Board President Carl Rush said Monday afternoon, "The action (to hire an attorney) on the Board's part results from an offer by a citizens group to pay for the legal costs to attempt to reduce the amount of the tap-in charge."

Rush explained that upon the advice of the attorney, the Board accepted the offer, and formally passed a resolution to engage an attorney.

Rush added that the Board's action does not necessarily mean the Board is going to take this to court, nor does it mean that the

Summer Arrives On Father's Day

ANN ARBOR — Summer officially arrived on Father's Day (June 21) this year, giving fathers the most daylight hours of any day in the year to enjoy themselves.

At 2:43 p.m. Michigan time (3:43 p.m. EDT) on Sunday the sun will reach summer solstice, its most northerly point and most direct position over the northern hemisphere, notes University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

The event will be marked by a 15-hour day and 9-hour night, the longest day and shortest night of the year.

We will also receive the most solar heat in any 24-hour period of the year on Sunday, Prof. Losh says. But, she adds, we probably would not get our hottest day for another month or more. This is because the earth will continue to receive more solar heat than it gives off at night until about Aug. 1, when intake and output become equal.

In the meantime, the earth's atmosphere will act like a blanket for the heat. Temperatures should keep soaring till the end of July.

Prof. Losh notes that the earth is about 3 million miles farther from the sun during our summers than during the winters. This makes our seasons a bit milder than those in the southern hemisphere. And, because the earth moves a little slower in its orbit around the sun during our summers, we enjoy slightly longer summers than winters.

SPICE IT UP — When barbecue sauce is used as an ingredient, these familiar dishes get a flavor lift. Simple family fare such as Savory Stuffed Cabbage or Barbecue Beef Stew are perfect dishes to make in the morning and reheat before serving in the evening. While Shrimp and Tuna Creole is an elegant party dish, it can be 'whipped up' in less than 30 minutes for spur-of-the-moment company.

Bastedo-Combs Nuptials Read At St. Anthony's

A quintet of bridal attendants preceded Verna Combs and her father to the altar of St. Anthony's Catholic Church June 5 as she approached her waiting bridegroom, Garry Bastedo.

For her double ring wedding, Verna appeared in a toe-touching gown of silk organza and Venetian lace. The fitted pearl-studded lace bodice was fashioned with a high neckline and long sleeves with a chapel train attached at the shoulders.

Her illusion veil was caught to a headpiece of seed pearls and she carried English bridal roses surrounding a white orchid.

The Friendly Neighbors Farm Bureau group held its annual picnic at the home of Mrs. Henry McMullan of Denton Rd. Tables were ready on the lawn but due to a severe thunder storm the 12 were forced to dine inside by candlelight. (Electricity was off.)

That Barbecue Flavor - It's Good All Year Long

As a convenient flavoring for grilled or broiled meats, all-purpose barbecue sauce has no peer. Now it takes on a new personality when used indoors as an ingredient in such dishes as stews, vegetables, and even party dips. Discovering these new ways can be a delightful challenge to the inventive cook — both novice and experienced.

Few other seasonings are necessary when the barbecue sauce is added, not only because it is flavorful on its own, but it seems to enhance the flavors of the other ingredients as well. Barbecue Beef Stew is a perfect example of a familiar meal-in-a-dish that is turned into a gourmet's feast by adding Open Pit Barbecue Sauce, any flavor. With plenty of vegetables in the stew, all you need to complete the menu is to toss some fresh garden greens with your favorite salad dressing and heat a loaf of French bread.

On especially busy spring and summer days, when outside chores keep you away from the range, prepare Savory Stuffed Cabbage early in the morning to reheat just before serving. In this case, the barbecue sauce is used as part of the braising liquid for the stuffed leaves and smoothly combines all the flavors into a subtle blend.

Glamorous dishes can be made with barbecue sauce, too. In fact, Shrimp and Tuna Creole is not only glamorous, but it can be prepared in less than 30 minutes. Served with rice, it's a good spur-of-the-moment "company" dish.

2 tablespoons butter
1-1/4 pounds shrimp, cleaned and cut lengthwise in half
1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes
1/2 cup all-purpose barbecue sauce
1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon cornstarch
3/4 cup water
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 cups packaged enriched pre-cooked rice

Saute onion and celery in butter in a large skillet until onion is tender but not browned. Add shrimp and saute, stirring frequently, until shrimp turns pink—about 3 minutes. Add tomatoes, barbecue sauce, tuna, and green pepper. Combine cornstarch and water, add to shrimp mixture. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer creole 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Sprinkle with parsley. Prepare rice as directed on package. Serve creole over rice. Makes about 6 cups creole mixture or 6 servings.

1-1/2 cups water
1 cup all-purpose barbecue sauce
1 can (8 oz.) small whole onions
2 medium carrots, cut in 2-inch slices
1/2 teaspoon salt

Saute meat in oil in heavy saucepan or Dutch oven until evenly browned. Add water and barbecue sauce. Cover and simmer until meat is almost tender—about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Add onions, carrots, and salt. Continue cooking until carrots are tender—about 45 minutes. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Makes about 4 cups or 4 servings.

Savory Stuffed Cabbage

6 medium or large cabbage leaves
Salted water
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt

2/3 cup hot prepared packaged enriched pre-cooked rice
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup water

Boil cabbage leaves in salted water for about 3 minutes, drain. Combine egg, salt, onion, milk, and 1/4 cup of the barbecue sauce, mix well. Add beef, pork, and rice; mix lightly. Place 1/2 cup of the meat mixture in center of each cabbage leaf. Fold sides and ends of leaves over meat mixture; secure with wooden picks. Saute in butter in a skillet about 5 minutes, or until golden on both sides. Add remaining barbecue sauce and the water. Cover and cook 40 minutes, basting twice during cooking. Cook, uncovered, 5 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

Grill Repertoire

What kinds of meat are suitable for outdoor broiling? A safe rule is to cook on the grill those cuts which are normally broiled or roasted. Beef steaks (such as rib eye or sirloin), ham slices, pork or lamb chops, kabobs of pork shoulder or beef sirloin tip, ready-to-serve meats as well as ground beef or lamb patties are suitable for broiling. Excellent cuts for the rotisserie are boneless roasts such as rib eye (Delmonico), sirloin tip and rolled rump (when of high quality), rolled leg of lamb, ham and pork loin rolls.

Connie Troutt Marries

Calvary Baptist Church Is Setting For Wedding

A week in Las Vegas followed by a three-day sojourn in Northern Michigan formed the honeymoon plans for the newly wed Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Preis who are now making their home at 13515 Lenmore Drive, Belleville.

Connie Troutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Troutt of 16325 Farnum, Romulus, became Mrs. Preis in a spring ceremony at the Calvary Baptist Church, Romulus.

Some 150 friends and relatives were assembled for the six o'clock nuptials read by the Rev. Lonnie England.

For the double ring ceremony, the altar was appointed with tall candelabras and vases of white snapdragons. Mrs. Ruth Dorris was soloist for the happy occasion.

ESCORTED UP the white-carpeted aisle by her father, Connie was gowned in a creation of white organza over taffeta. Her toe-touching dress was styled with long sleeves and a high neckline which featured a scalloped, stand-up collar. Alencon lace appliques accented with pearl clusters frosted the empire bodice and A-line skirt. The lace motif was repeated on the sleeves and along the edge of the detachable chapel train.

Her elbow-length bouffant veil of silk illusion was secured by lace petals sprinkled with crystals and seed pearls. Completing her bridal finery was a colonial arrangement of yellow roses, white carnations, stephanotis, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Linda Bitnar of Belleville was her sister's honor attendant in a floor-length gown of mimosa yellow linen. Designed with short sleeves and a rounded neckline, the bodice was embroidered with daisies on the high-rise waistline.

Clusters of yellow flowers accented with a short veil formed her headgear and she carried a basket filled with yellow and white daisies.

Dressed in identical ensembles and holding baskets of yellow daisies were the three bridesmaids: Sue Wahrman and Ingrid Preis, the bridegroom's sister, both of Romulus; and Virginia Swater, the bride's cousin from Taylor.

HEADING THE list of groomsmen was the best man, Peter Preis of Romulus, brother of the bridegroom, with another brother, Alfred Preis of Belleville, Rick Buckberry of Belleville, and Jack Shick of Romulus, as ushers.

The Romulus Progressive Club was reserved for the reception which followed. The 350 guests were greeted by Mrs. Troutt in an A-line aqua linen frock and companion coat. Her accessories were in matching tones and her corsage was comprised of yellow roses.

Mrs. Preis added an identical corsage to her beige A-line dress worn with a matching shawl and brown accessories.

The new Mrs. Preis graduated from the University of Detroit School of Dental Hygiene in 1969. She is currently working for Dr. Paul P. Jatkoe in Westland.

Her husband is an employee of The Yellow Freight System in Melvindale.

MR. AND MRS. HELMUT PREIS

All Around The Town ...with Lee Canadian Caravan

THE MARRIAGE of their first grandchild, Elaine Ann Malloy, to Claude Leo Herner, sparked a trip to Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada recently for Mr. and Mrs. William Graham of Liberty Street.

Leaving on the motor trip with them June 10 was their daughter-in-law, Susan Graham of Detroit, her husband, Bill, being unable to attend due to IBM school in Chicago for three weeks. Enroute the threesome had dinner in Chicago with the Jack Graham family.

Another contingent leaving for Canada the following day were Harvey and Elaine Stabnau and their quartet — Jeff, Craig, Sheila, and Suzanne; their nephew and niece, Charlie and Cathy Stabnau; as well as Jim and Eileen Graham and children, Scott and Pamela. Flying in from Windsor Airport via 'Air Canada', the group made their quarters at the Lincoln Motor Hotel in Winnipeg.

The wedding June 13 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Winnipeg united the daughter of former Bellevillite Grace Graham Malloy and her husband, Rock Malloy.

The bridal coterie included Sheila Stabnau, one of the attendants, and Pam Graham, who was flowergirl.

The four o'clock nuptials were followed by a dinner reception at St. Joseph's Mens Club in Winnipeg. The newlyweds' honeymoon was a cruise on the M.S. Lord Selkirk on Lake Winnipeg to Norway House.

California Bound

CALIFORNIA WAS the destination last Friday for Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brooks, Jr. and their 13-month old son, Billie, as they departed Metro Airport.

They were to be met in Los Angeles by members of Mrs. B's family — her dad, A. G. Meyer, and brother, Tom; and her sister and brother-in-law, the Keith Durees with Michael and Sheryl, all of Turlock.

The travelers plan to spend two weeks with relatives in Torrence, the Orange County area, and the L. A. region while taking in Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, and as many points of interest as possible.

Joining the Brooks family on their flight westward was a friend, George Deverich, who was returning to San Diego following his leave here. The Brooks planned to spend part of their vacation with him before his return to U.S. Navy duties.

Emily Honored

A MISCELLANEOUS bridal shower honoring August bride-elect, Emily Apap, took place Sunday at the Joseph Apap home on Harmony Lane. Hostesses for the happy occasion were Ruth Apap and Yvonne Goleniak of Livonia.

Some 100 friends and relatives drove in from Brighton, Ishpeming, Detroit, Livonia, Ypsilanti, and Dearborn for the afternoon of games and wedding talk.

Emily's gifts, arranged around a lavender and white wishing well, were opened with assistance from her seven future attendants: Yvonne Goleniak, Alice White of Brighton; Liz Ayers from Ypsilanti; Terry Mamo of Belleville; Patti Apap of Livonia; and Carey Woods and Jeanette Montour both from Detroit.

The buffet dinner which followed was served from a table centered with white wedding bells and tall tapers. Mrs. Carey Levy of Dearborn and Mrs. Georgia Apap of Livonia helped with the serving.

St. Anthony's Church has been reserved for Emily's August 21 marriage to Paul Nedeau of Warren, Ohio.

Stroganoff Stars

Beef stroganoff, in addition to flavor, has another appeal. It may be prepared ahead and heated again when the guests have arrived. Sour cream folds in quickly right before service. Served over rice or noodles with green beans, Parmesan, citrus salad, rolls, grenadine fruit sundae and coffee, beef stroganoff for a party dinner is a delicious success.

Extra Ham Per Hog

Homemakers today purchase pork from leaner hogs. The amount of ham and loin in hogs has increased by 23.5 percent, the equivalent of an extra ham for every hog. There's a more uniform year-around supply because with better feed utilization, it takes less time to get hogs to market.

Keep your cool driving on the hot Fourth of July.

The highways will be crowded...traffic may move like a snail...and tempers may flare.

Don't let a hot temper cause you to blow your stack.

When your stack blows...your patience goes...And you may be heading for trouble.

This is how accident statistics are made.

ROMULUS — The closing of the school year and the final days of high school brought an extra thrill to a Romulus Senior, Mathew Michniewicz of 13589 Huron River Dr., when he was one of a few students chosen to attend the 51st Annual Food Convention in Chicago, Illinois, the week of May 24.

The trip was made under the supervision of his high school Commercial Foods teacher, Oscar J. Butler.

The trip was made by American Airlines Astro Jet on May 25 from Metro Airport. Following arrival at O'Hare Airport in Chicago the group took up residence at Holiday Inn near the amphitheatre where the convention was being held.

"I had the opportunity to view much of the latest equipment available to the food service and training industry," Mathew said. "It was a never to be forgotten experience of wondrous sights and memories to be acquainted with the unlimited opportunities available to those, like myself, who have an interest in the food service and training industry."

One evening the students were guests of the Palmer House and dined on an 11-course dinner while being entertained by Al Hirt. In between they had the opportunity of dancing to the music of Robert Trendler's Orchestra.

Mathew's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Michniewicz, Sr.

NEW PROTECTION — A new use of plastic is helping Michigan Bell protect its underground cables from moisture. A workman fastens together a rack holding 18 four-inch plastic pipes. Such below-the-surface communications "highways" are used to protect phone cables from storms and other types of damage. The underground system also helps maintain the naturalness of the environment by keeping phone cables out of sight.

Telephone Firm Discloses New Use Of Plastic Pipe

Plastic, much like that used in children's toys, is now helping to protect underground telephone cables.

The new plastic pipe has a number of advantages that make its use attractive in underground installations, said T. (Mike) White, engineer of outside plant for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

The principal benefit is that the plastic protective sheathing, called "conduit" in telephone terminology, is more waterproof. Also it's lighter and more flexible to work with, making it easier to curve around underground obstructions.

Telephone cables are placed underground when possible. This protects the cables from possible service interruptions caused by storms or other types of damage. And, it helps keep the environment more natural. But, underground cables also can be problems to the telephone companies.

"One of our biggest causes of trouble is water seeping into underground cables. A wet cable can short out, cutting off phone calls and other communications," White said.

The new plastic conduit can be chemically "welded." This bonding makes it more waterproof than other types of conduit and should reduce the number of phone service short outs.

In some areas as many as 36 underground cables may be located near a telephone central office or in a major communications "highway" between cities. When a number of phone cables are needed, Michigan Bell generally puts the cables in conduit. This usually is 42-inch blocks of concrete or tile with from six to nine holes extending through it lengthwise.

Digging up streets, sidewalks and landscapes to add new phone cables is expensive. So, enough conduit is placed at one time to meet anticipated communications needs for 25 to 40 years. This cuts construction costs and thereby helps keep telephone bills low, White said.

Once the conduit system is underground, telephone cables can be added economically and as required to keep pace with communication needs. To add cable, a truck-mounted winch line is fastened to a length of phone cable. Then, the cable is pulled into the underground conduit. Splicers working in manholes, located every block or two, join the individual wires together.

The plastic conduit is 16 times lighter than concrete, reducing shipping costs.

Because the tubes come in 20-foot lengths, fewer connections are required to join the plastic than are necessary with the 42-inch concrete blocks.

The plastic tubing can be used individually or stacked up in racks holding as many as 36. In areas where added protection is needed, the racks of plastic conduit can be encased in concrete.

The new plastic material costs more initially. However, White noted that as more experience is gained with the use of this conduit, it is anticipated that lower installation costs will result.

band and/or chorus, will give concerts in selected cities throughout England, Scotland, and Wales.

Musical Youth International was organized in 1965 to improve international relations through experience in the arts and family living. These young people hail from Michigan as well as neighboring states.

Their objective is to present to other countries a vivid demonstration of the region's public school music program while experiencing the family and community life of their host nation.

For the past five years MYI students have shared the music and character of American youth with the cultures of Europe, Mexico, and Japan, as well as given performances at two world's fairs.

Projected tours through 1974 will see MYI performing in Western Europe, Mexico, South America, the Mediterranean, the Philippines and Australia.

Musical Youth International will give a concert in Fenton at 7:30 p.m., tonight (June 24) in New High School Auditorium.

Bill Would Revise Licensing

ROMULUS — A House Bill No. 4709, introduced by State Representative Edward E. Mahalak (D) Romulus, would revise the State law on driver licensing to more adequately cover servicemen, while in the service, has passed the House and has been sent to the Senate Committee on Highways.

The Mahalak bill would exempt a serviceman for 30 days after his discharge. "This clarifies the present law," Mahalak explained. "It gives a man who is just out of the armed forces and who is usually busy re-adjusting to civilian life sufficient time to apply for his new driver's license. This bill is particularly needed now because of the large numbers of Vietnam veterans who are returning home."

The Mahalak proposal does stipulate, however, that the serviceman would have to certify his status while on active duty annually after his old driver's license expires in order to be eligible for the 30-day exemption after his discharge.

House Bill 4709 would also exempt from a Michigan driver license any member of the armed forces of the United States, stationed in Michigan, who is a resident of another State and has a valid license issued by his home State.

"This is another clarification of the existing law," Mahalak added. "It makes little sense to demand that a serviceman who has a valid driver license from another State also obtain a license in Michigan just because he is temporarily stationed in Michigan just changes which I propose in the law are courtesies which can be extended to servicemen without any danger to public safety."

Sewer Fees

Board wants to have the tap-in charge waived.

Rather the Board is taking steps for reductions in the charges, since the Board feels that the charges are excessive, Rush said.

Since the tap-in charges are the result of the first sewer program within the Township, this is the School District's first experience, with such charges.

Rush said that the administration has made a survey in the Airport, Romulus and Woodhaven School Districts with regard to tap-in charges. He said that from the figures obtained from these districts, there is no justification for the fees being assessed to the Huron District.

Rush also said that presently there is no money allotted to pay the $66,500 fee. He said that the District had expected to pay the Township "the out-of-pocket costs" such as labor and materials for the actual sewer tap-in at each school.

Rush said that the Board was hopeful that the matter could be settled through negotiations between the School District and the Townsh.

DICK KITZMAN
Top Golf Coach

6 Prep Golfers Picked All-Area

Six patient students of golf, one a sophomore, shot their way to the Associated Newspapers' 1970 All-Area High School Golf Team.

Two of the coveted All-Area berths went to Garden City West, which capped a 10-3 season with its inaugural Western Wayne Invitational title; two other berths were awarded Livonia Franklin, this year's WW runnerup, while Belleville and Garden City East are represented on the Top Six with one player each.

West is represented on the mythical squad with Mike Dunn and Ron Smith, while Franklin has Steve Brzys and Randy Adams; Belleville's Mike Randall and East's Jerry Pawlak also were awarded slots.

Pawlak is only a sophomore who has a bright future in the sport, according to his coach, Ralph Davis.

"He's very devoted to the game and practices ardently, learning the basic fundamentals and this is what's going to make him an outstanding golfer someday," said coach Davis.

Pawlak, who shot an 82 to place in a three-way tie for fourth at the Western Wayne, took medalist honors in four of his team's dual meets this season.

He also helped the Panthers capture the East-West traveling trophy, donated by the Garden City Jaycees. East registered a 167-174 victory over their cross-town counterparts.

It would have been a surprise if Belleville's Randall didn't turn out to be an excellent golfer — his father is the proprietor of the "K-Golf Course" just west of Belleville.

The Tigers Most Valuable Player, Randall is a transfer student.

"It's too bad we only had him for his senior year," said

coach Bill Brandell. "He's a top-notch golfer and we sure could have used him here next year."

Randall also shot an 82 to force that three-way tie for fourth place at the Western Wayne. An excellent student as well, Mike will be attending the General Motors Institute this fall.

West's Dunn is a versatile athlete who had earned plaudits in basketball and football as well. As a golfer he was one of coach Dick Kitzman's most consistent players. He fired an 82 at the WW and took medalist honors in dual meet competition three separate times.

An All-Tri-River Conference selection, Dunn was picked MVP on the golf team. He will continue his education at Central Michigan University where he also hopes to play the three sports which he lettered in as a prep.

Smith had a 34 at Birch Hill at the WW — which was his best. He wound up with a 79 and, teaming with Dunn, provided West with the 1-2 punch that enabled the Tigers to capture their first Western Wayne Invitation championship.

Both Dunn and Smith are seniors and their absence in West's lineup next year will cause the Tigers much concern.

Franklin will retain both of their top golfers for another year. Brzys and Adams, who placed 1-2, respectively, at the Western Wayne Invitational, are only juniors and that could spell trouble for Franklin golf rivals.

As a junior, Brzys emerged with medalist honors at the WW when he carded a 75 to nip his teammate Adams who finished with a 78.

"Steve is one of the most exciting high school golfers to come on the scene," said coach Bob Visser. "He's a bold putter and player and long off the tee."

"And Randy is probably one of the most consistent players I've had with an iron," he said.

With two players like Brzys and Adams around next year, one has the feeling that Garden City West won't hang on to the WW crown for long.

Kitzman Picked As Golf Coach Of Year

The metamorphosis of high school golfing has reached an "attractive stage", according to Garden City West High coach Richard Kitzman, who has been tutoring prep golfers in the area for over a decade.

"In the past it was difficult to get kids to come out because some thought it was a 'sissy' sport and the athletes were usually lured to the sports like football, baseball and basketball.

"It's not so nowadays," says coach Kitzman. "Boys today find golfing a challenge and flock to it in greater numbers than ever."

"And from these numbers you usually can find plenty of talent," said Kitzman.

Kitzman coached his Tigers to their first Western Wayne Invitational title. His team posted a 10-4 over-all record, and for his achievements, the Associated Newspapers honors him as the Coach of the Year.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, Kitzman taught in Illinois before coming to Michigan in 1958 to accept a position at Garden City East High School.

A music teacher and band director, Kitzman also coached East golf teams for seven years before shifting over to West Senior High when that school opened its doors.

The West coach also has two sons who have played on his previous teams, John, the oldest, holds East High's record, while Pete also was a standout as a Panther.

Golf Clinic Date Set

There are three more golfing sessions available to boys and girls in the area who wish to attend a Junior Golf Clinic organized by the Wayne County Road Commission.

The clinics for the junior golfers are being held at the Warren Valley Golf Course, 26116 Warren, in Dearborn Heights.

The second of the four classes is tomorrow, Thurs., June 25. Two other dates, June 30 and July 2, are also set aside for the clinic.

To be eligible for lessons, a boy or girl must have passed his ninth birthday and must not have reached his 15th birthday by June 23.

The clinics, which will begin at 8:30 a.m. — will be conducted by Frank Jawor, Warren Valley's golf professional, and Tom Amundson, associate pro.

A waiver of responsibility must be signed by the parent or guardian of each child.

Women and Horse Racing

Never take a woman to a horse race. I know! I did last Saturday and I will pay for that unique experience for quite some time.

It was the Michigan Mile and the gal said she had never seen a horse race and she would love to tag along. So being the gentleman that I am, I agreed to tug her to the turf.

I should have known better.

There you sit studying the racing form, talking to the pros and when you place a couple of bucks on a horse you feel certain that you have a shot at winning.

But a woman? How does she bet?

"Please buy me a ticket on No. 7," the gal pleads.

"Why No. 7?" you foolishly ask.

"He has a cute name," is the unrational reply.

Of course, those who hang around tracks long enough know the finish to these stories. At the end of the race, cutie pie hands her ticket back to you and announces, "Would you please cash it. You know how I hate to stand in lines."

And to add insult to injury, she will add: "Didn't you pick that horse?"

You'd like to cram five down her throat — but then you know people are watching, and after all, she is your wife!

What really surprises me is THE gal didn't come up with the Big Perfecta on Saturday. That one was worth a wallowing seventy-two thousand, four hundred fifteen dollars and sixty cents.

That's right. $72,415.60. A record payoff for the Perfecta (Big, that is) at the DRC.

And what does the sweet woman next to me ask after it's all over?

"What would you do," she dared ask, "If I had won the "Divorce you, dear, and marry Raquel Welch."

'Mile' Is Graveyard

One thing for sure, the "Mile" remains a graveyard for the favorites and that enigma will remain so. They were joking in the press box before the race about the rest of the field.

But one of my colleagues said, "Wish I had $200 to put on Fast Hilarious, I got a feeling about that horse."

After the race, after Fast Hilarious proved again that there is no favorite when it comes to the "mile", we had to summon an ambulance for the guy with the extra sensory perception.

And now that I have made my annual donation to Michigan thoroughbred racing, I want to thank Bill Kofender, DRC PR man and the boys over there for an excellent day.

Now if Bill could only convince the Internal Revenue men to let us deduct our racing losses, what it really would be something, wouldn't it?

Speaking of public relations, Little League organizations that want publicity can get it by phoning the Sports Department on Saturday or Sunday.

However, many groups have their own PR men and women and they should be contacted before calling the Sports Department.

There has been friction, it appears, between individuals who, without the consent of the organizations, have been phoning in stories and the PR people, who are authorized to gather the information.

TIGER LAURELS — The Tiger Swim Club made its AAU debut an auspicious one last week as members of the team captured 19 trophies (shown above) in their inaugural meet of the season at Heilman Recreation Center in Detroit. The club is made up of youngsters from Belleville and is coached by Bill Brandell, Belleville High School head coach.

Tiger Swim Club Wins 19 Trophies In Debut

The Tiger Swim Club, under the guidance of coach Bill Brandell, captured a total of 19 trophies at the inaugural Osborn Invitational Age Group Swim Meet held at Heilman Recreation Center in Detroit last week.

Of those 19 awards, three were for first place. Tops in their respective age groups were Jim Kause who took the 25 yard backstroke in the boys eight-year-old and under class; Scott Stone, who capped first place honors in the 100 yard backstroke for the 13 and 14 year old age group; and Brad Susterka who was first in the 15 and 17 year old 100 butterfly event.

In the 200 yard freestyle relay, Roger Thomas, Jeff Liedel, Scott Stone and Matt Byrnes finished second and the 200 yard medley foursome of Stone, Liedel, Byrnes and Roger Thomas finished the event in third place.

In the 15 and 17, boys' 800-yard freestyle relay team of Brad Susterka, Jim Ackron, Kim Stone and Curt Cullin pulled up in fifth.

Susterka also managed to place sixth in the 200 yard backstroke while Terry Mills touched in third for the 100 yard breaststroke event.

In the 500-yard freestyle, Susterka turned up with the runnerup trophy. He also beat out teammate Ackron for fifth place honors in the 400 yard individual medley event. Ackron was sixth.

The 400-yard medley relay team of Barry Susterka, Jim Ackron, Brad Susterka and Kim Stone placed third.

The Tiger Swim Club is also seeking swimmers for their club. Any boy or girl who is interested in competitive swimming or diving is urged to join the organization.

The Tigers work out at Belleville High School pool from 5 to 7 p.m. on Monday through Friday. Anyone who wishes to join should contact Bud Susterka at OX 7-6241 or coach Brandell at 721-6923.

Congressmen Unopposed In Primary

Ford, McDonald, Esch Home Free

U.S. Congressman in western Wayne County appear to be safe from upset in primary election races August 4.

None of the incumbent Congressmen have any primary opposition, although there are some contests among the opposition.

In the 15th Congressional District, William D. Ford, Democratic incumbent from Taylor, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. He will face Republican Ernest C. Fackler, also running without opposition, in the general election in November.

In the 19th Congressional District, Republican incumbent Jack McDonald of Redford has no primary opponent. On the Democratic side a race is shaping up between Franklin Z. Adell of Novi, Daniel A. Burress, Livonia attorney; Fred L. Harris of Farmington, Ronald B. Hecker of Livonia, and H. Patrick O'Neill of Livonia.

Also filing in the 19th District was Hector McGregor of Redford, an American Independent Party candidate.

In the 2nd Congressional District, Republican incumbent Marvin L. Esch of Ann Arbor is unopposed. On the Democratic side, Bruce W. Neil and R. Michael Stillwagon, both of Ann Arbor will stage a primary fight.

Hot Races Set For Senate Seats

WESTLAND — The big news in battles for State Senate seats in western Wayne County is in the 13th District, where incumbent Democratic William P. Faust faces Democratic State Rep. Vincent Pettipren. Both men are from Westland.

The winner of that race will face Republican nominee Anthony (Bill) Bielecki, also of Westland, the only Republic to file in the normally Democratic district.

In the 12th State Senate District incumbent Republican N. Lorraine Beebe of Dearborn faces token primary opposition from Mrs. Helen Gotowka of Dearborn Heights.

On the Democratic side in the 12th a full primary race will decide the nominee from among Eugene P. Melnick of Redford, Virginia Crawford of Dearborn; David A. Plawewski of Dearborn Heights, William Carr of Dearborn Heights and Dennis J. O'Leary of Dearborn.

In the 14th State Senate District, the hot race is for the Republican nomination, pitting incumbent George Kuhn of West Bloomfield against challenger, Wayne County Commissioner Carl D. Pursell of Plymouth. Also in the Republican race are Al Smith of Northville and Donald James Van Rase of Pontiac.

On the Democratic side in the 14th District, Paul Kadish of Livonia is unopposed.

The 13th District is normally Democratic, while the 14th is normally Republican in voting patterns. The 12th District is considered swing, having no hard party identification.

County Board Races Crowded

In County Commission Districts in western Wayne County, voters will be casting their ballots to retain incumbents or select new county board members.

In the 20th Commission District, incumbent appointee John Lesinski, a former Congressman, will face a Democratic primary challenge from Roy Lancaster of Dearborn. On the Republican ticket, Robert L. Slaughter of Dearborn is unopposed.

In District 24, incumbent Democrat Edmund Bizek of Romulus faces Royce E. Smith, the Mayor of Belleville; John R. Sabo Jr. of Taylor and Mary Washburn in the Democratic primary. Roger Groth of Westland is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

Degree Is Earned

WESTLAND — A Westland man, who is a former Inksterite and a former outstanding Associated Newspapers carrier, was graduated recently from Wayne State University.

Gary W. Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ray, of 35940 Canyon Dr., Westland, earned a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. In September he will be going to the University of Wisconsin to become a teaching assistant while working on his Ph.D. in chemistry.

The Rays formerly lived at 29966 Brook Lane, Inkster. Gary Ray was valedictorian of his graduating class from Inkster High School in 1966.

CELEBRITY IN TOWN — Massachusetts Senator Edward M. Kennedy flew into Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus last week as a prelude to a Democratic testimonial he shared with Michigan Senator Philip A. Hart. Above, Kennedy is greeted by newsmen and Senator Hart, left. Right, Kennedy strikes a thoughtful pose in response to newsmen's questions.

Voters Choose Representatives In Six Districts

Western Wayne county voters will send six persons to the state house of Representatives this year, and some of the races are promising to be hot ones.

In the 32nd District, incumbent Democrat Alex Pilch will face a surprise challenge from John Barr of Dearborn Heights. On the Republican side, District chairman Dwight Vincent of Dearborn Heights is unopposed.

In the 33rd District incumbent Democrat Richard

Young faces Steve Dzaidzio of Dearborn Heights and Richard Stempion of Westland for the Democratic nomination. On the Republican side, Alan J. Armitage of Dearborn is unopposed.

The 35th District race finds incumbent democrat Marvin R. Stempion of Livonia unopposed. He will face Republican Robert T. Swanson of Livonia in the November general election.

A battle between Democratic incumbent James Tierney of Garden City and Garden City Mayor Timothy J. Murphy highlights the Democratic primary in the 36th District. Jacquelyn Ann Boelter of Canton is unopposed for the Republican nomination.

In District 37, a Democratic primary fight looms between Westland City Councilman Mrs. Justine Barns and former Westland Mayor Thomas H. Brown, with a third challenge from William R. Dewyer of Westland. Unopposed for the Republican nomination is Leland D. Johnston of Inkster.

In the 38th District, incumbent Democrat Edward Mahalak is being challenged by longtime educator Carl Morris of Romulus. Republican challenger will be Dale C. Wagenknecht of Petersburg, who is also unopposed.

Retailers Asked To Remove DDT

LANSING — Michigan retailers who still have supplies of products containing DDT on their shelves are being asked by B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, to cooperate in voluntarily removing such products from the market.

Registration of DDT was cancelled by the Michigan Commission of Agriculture a year ago, with the exception of certain limited emergency uses by government health agencies.

Under the Commission action, no new supplies of DDT products could be shipped into Michigan.

Since June 28, 1969, when the cancellations became effective, a total of 1.25 tons of DDT formulations illegally shipped into Michigan have been seized by the Department and returned to the out-of-state shippers, Ball reported.

Quo Vadis Theater Grows With Fourth Movie House

WESTLAND — Western Wayne County residents who get the urge to see a movie, will be faced with an even bigger decision as they approach the intersection of Wayne Rd. and Warren Rd. in Westland.

The Quo Vadis Entertainment Center will soon open a fourth theatre under one roof, and the adjoining Algiers Drive-In brings the total number of theatres on the site to five.

The larger Quo Vadis Theatre on the first floor of the two-story structure will be divided into two separate theatres, called the Quo Vadis Theatre I and the Quo Vadis Theatre II.

On the second level will be the Quo Vadis Penthouse I and the Quo Vadis Penthouse II. Moviegoers will have a choice of four first-run features.

Each of the new theatres will have a seating capacity of 600 persons, where the old theatre had seating for 1200. The Penthouse theatres have seating for 400.

For the opening roster of films, on July 1, the Quo Vadis Theatre I will be showing 'Beneath the Planet of the Apes,' the Quo Vadis Theatre II will show 'Patton,' the Quo Vadis Penthouse I will show 'Chisum,' and the Quo Vadis Penthouse II will show 'Anne of the Thousand Days.'

The theatres' owners, Martin and Charles Shafer opened the original Quo Vadis Theatre in June, 1966. Later, a restaurant, the 'Over 21 Club' was opened on the second floor. In April, 1968, the two Penthouse theatres were opened.

The Shafers have no plans to leave the Quo Vadis Entertainment Center in a static condition. Plans are already in the blueprint stage to add an entirely new floor on top of the Quo Vadis to house another, fifth theatre under the same roof.

Other Shafer theatres in the western Wayne area are the La Parisien in Garden City and the State-Wayne and the Wayne Drive-In in Wayne.

Ford Film On Racing Available

Big league auto racing is shown as "a serious ritual filled with thunder and grace" in a new documentary motion picture released by Ford Motor Company.

Focusing on the 1969 racing season, "Ford Flat Out" is a kaleidoscope of fact action from NASCAR stocks, Indy championship cars, Trans-Am sedans and drag racing's fuel "funny" cars.

Behind-the-scenes commentary is offered by some of the top names in racing, including Mario Andretti, LeeRoy Yarbrough, David Pearson, Mickey Thompson and Danny Ongais.

Designed to appeal to film buffs as well as to race fans, the picture uses a variety of advanced cinema techniques to recreate the frenzied pace and flavor of America's second largest spectator sport.

A TOAST TO US — Plymouth seniors toasted themselves last Wednesday at the Senior Banquet held at Roma Hall in Livonia. The 562 graduates enjoyed an elaborate buffet at the annual affair for "seniors only." Class officers and sponsors presided over the evening's activities.

Summer Y Programs Get Into Full Swing

The YMCA summer camp season will begin this week with a full range of camping and activities available. Programs have been developed for virtually all age groups and interests.

The "Kiddie Kamp" designed for boys and girls ages four to six years of age will be held at the YMCA branch located at 827 S. Wayne Rd., Westland, and will include recreation and an introduction to the fundamentals of swimming.

The youngsters will meet five mornings a week from 9 a.m. to 12 noon at a cost of $15 per child. The program begins July 6.

The day camp will again be offered for children six years and older and will include swimming each day at Lower Huron pool, crafts, nature hikes, archery, group games etc.

Boys and girls participating will pay $30 for each two week session plus $2.50 for bus transportation. The campers will be picked up each morning at a location near their home and be returned each afternoon. The day camp began June 22.

In addition to the local activities youngsters interested may, if they wish, attend either of two resident camps.

Boys and girls eight to eleven years will enjoy boating, swimming, games, horse back riding, archery, campfire and many other fun packed days at Camp Ohiesya located in a beautiful lakeside setting near Holly, Michigan. Camp periods will run close to two weeks each and will begin June 29 at a cost of $115 per period which pays for everything.

Boys and girls 12 to 17 can travel north to the shores of Lake Van Etan, at Oscoda, Michigan, where Camp Nissokone has been in operation for over 50 years.

This is the ultimate in camping and includes sailing, complete swimming instruction, qualified counselors, tennis, water skiing, and hiking. Cost is $115 for each camp period which like Ohiesya includes everything with the first period beginning June 29.

Safe Swim Rules Could Save Life

Summertime means fun in the sun — and of course in the water. But it can also be a time of tragedy. Drowning is the fourth leading cause of accidental death.

Some guidelines for safe pool and lake swimming are provided by Liberty Mutual Insurance Companies:

*Divide home pools by depth lines.

*Learn lifesaving techniques.

*Watch children very carefully when in the water. More than half the drowning victims in pools are under the age of ten.

*Don't swim to soon after eating.

*Avoid horse play around the pool.

*Keep a sufficient number of life preservers around the pool.

*Strength is not a guarantee against drowning.

Statistics show that nearly 85 per cent of all drowning victims are male. Learn swimming and safety techniques.

*When swimming, especially in unfamiliar areas, think in terms of two. Your buddy may mean the difference between a close call and a tragedy.

*Know where your children swim. New and unfamiliar spots may be a big challenge to them but they could also be very dangerous.

HCMA Receives Award

The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority and its employees were recipients of the First Place "Safety Achievement Award" for their outstanding record in "safety on the job" throughout the system of eight parks in 1969.

The Award Plaque was accepted earlier this month by the Authority Board of Commissioners on behalf of the Authority's employees from the Michigan Mutual Liability Company. Presenting the plaque for this outstanding achievement were George Webster, sales representative, and Harold Lemmer, safety engineer, both of Michigan Mutual in Detroit.

The award signifies a minimum of lost time through accidents while on the job by Authority employees at Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Marshbank Metropolitan Park near Pontiac, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville and Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Metropolitan Parks near Ann Arbor.

During 1969 Authority employees lost time factor per 1,000,000 work hours was 16.4, while the national average was 24.2.

Youth Symphony Auditions Gain Large Response

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra held the first auditions last week for the Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra, which will begin its initial season next fall.

More than 250 metropolitan area youngsters descended upon Ford Auditorium to demonstrate their musical ability before panels of leading Detroit music educators and members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Every section of the orchestra was represented as youngsters came in a steady stream to occupy every available space in the auditorium.

Because of the overwhelming response from applicants seeking a chair in the Youth Orchestra, further preliminary auditions have been scheduled for July 17 and August 27. Final auditions will take place during the weeks of September 14 and September 21.

Paul Ganson, assistant principal bassoonist with the Detroit Symphony and administrator of the Youth Orchestra, stated that over 300 applications had been received prior to the June 8 deadline and applications are still being accepted.

After the auditions he said, "I am really very pleased about the response and tremendously impressed with the musical abilities of many of the youngsters. . . Some, of course, do not meet the very high standards set for the orchestra, however, I have no doubt that we will be able to complete the membership."

"We are very much inspired by the overwhelming enthusiasm generated here today by the youngsters, their parents, the music educators and especially the members of the Detroit Symphony" stated Dr. Paul Freeman, newly appointed conductor-in-residence of the Detroit Symphony, who will also serve as the conductor of the Youth Orchestra.

After sitting in on many of the individual auditions, Dr. Freeman said, "We will have a very fine nucleus with which to work and we will continue to explore all possibilities in an attempt to get the most deserving young people to participate."

In addition to providing an opportunity for young talented musicians to receive additional orchestral experience in a professionally oriented environment, the Detroit Symphony Youth Orchestra will also serve as a type of training orchestra for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

A wide variety of music will be read and performed, thus providing further exposure to orchestral literature.

A second scholarship for the Youth Orchestra has been announced by Gordon Staples, concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony, who will provide an opportunity for the youngster chosen to serve as the concertmaster of the Youth Orchestra to work and study with him. Last month, Duke Ellington announced that he would help create the first scholarship as an adjunct of the orchestra's overall program.

Broadway Musicals Brighten A Dull Season

By HOWARD ALLEN

NEW YORK — If the New York season has been slim, then musicals have been on a starvation diet, for in no area of the legitimate stage are costs so high and losses so great. Yet the season has seen at least two great musicals, "Applause" (reviewed while in Detroit) and "Company."

Contemporary society has lost many values and life today is hollow. We are all the hollow men, suggests "Company," at the Alvin, and we may realize it occasionally, but not too often — it would be too painful.

The protagonist of the sophisticated Stephen

Sondheim — George Furth musical, Larry Kert, is a bachelor and the target of five married couples seeking to marry him off so he may share their happiness. Or their misery.

One friend is a heavy drinker, working on her third husband. Another has been living with a man and is terrified at the thought of marriage. A third couple divorce each other but remain together, far more contented. "Company" shines with a hard New York gloss, set in a metallic stage full of elevators and other apartment verticals, suggesting an upward and downward mobility in more ways than one.

Director Harold Prince and choreographer Michael Bennett keep the action extremely fluid, preferring to create a mood more than to tell a story. "Company" thus is like a stroll through a chic cocktail party, catching snatches of a dozen conversations, blending into each other to create its own mood.

The cast achieves repertory status, without individual emphasis, although a dance of Donna McKechnie and a moment of tragedy by Elaine Stritch stand out.

Ossie Davis' "Purdie Victorious" reduced the racial problems of the south to cartoon dimensions, complete with plantation owner and shuffling darkies. Davis, in adapting his work with Philip Rose and Peter Udell for the musical, "Purdie," at the Broadway, had totally abandoned himself to the cartoon, seeking to create a parable. It almost works.

The sets and characters are Walt Disney, circa 1940. "Purdie" is inoffensive for it is unreal. Purdie is a self-ordained minister fighting the allegory of good and evil with Stonewall Jackson Crotchapee, Ol' Cap'n, a plantation owner with whom Purdie vies for the control of a ramshackle church which he plans to use as the springboard for a quest for freedom.

His fellow puppets include his Uncle Tom brother and his mammyish sister-in-law, and Lutibelle, a dimwitted girl he plans to use in his scheme.

The Gary Geld-Udell score accepts the upbeat, certainly appropriate for commenting on how well the darkies sing and dance, but the production moves at far too dogged a pace to sustain one note for 2½ hours. Somehow director Rose emphatically welds cast and audience, tiring as the effort is.

Clevo Little and John Heffernan, as Purdie and Ol' Cap'n, are suitably implausible; only Melba Moore, as Lutibelle who cannot escape her slave mentality, occasionally breaks through to destroy the illusion of unreality with a plaintive note.

"Hello Dolly" at the St. James will soon pass "My Fair Lady" as New York's longest running musical, so it is obviously futile at this date to register any complaints about its structural flaws. Go argue with an institution.

But "Dolly" is still vital, thanks to another institution, Ethel Merman, and I concede after about five viewings that it's starting to grow on me. I left the theater enthusiastically humming the score which, my first review, years back, called undistinguished.

La Merm is a parade, all by herself, with no help needed from Oliver Smith's spectacular 14th Street parade. Even at less than full power — she was way down in the opening scenes on the night I saw it — Miss Merman still projects into the second balcony without amplification.

One of the advantages of David Merrick's star of the month program is that you can't ask a stage manager to rehearse a personage of Miss Merman's magnitudes. You must call in the original director, Gower Champion, or someone of equal capability.

UP Sportsmens' Dream Sparks State Controversy

LANSING—Money to start building a $250,000 fish ladder to attract steelhead trout into the scenic Presque Isle River is locked up in a House-Senate bargaining room.

Lawmakers have chosen up sides between the Upper Peninsula and southeastern Michigan.

The big issues are the size of the project, estimated to eventually cost $1.3 million, and the place it occupies on the Department of Natural Resources scale of priorities.

Sideline battles are being fought over the possibility the fish ladder will destroy the esthetic value of the river versus the lure to well-heeled sportsmen carrying money to the region.

"This would make only 400 feet of river overall available to fish," said Rep. Thomas J. Anderson (D-Southgate). "That's why I'm screaming."

Upper Peninsula legislators have sought the ladder for years and, in 1968, got $75,000 in planning money. Now the plans are ready and the first ladder needs money for construction.

The appropriation cleared the Senate appropriations committee, the capital outlay committee, was approved by the Senate and ran into a buzz saw in the House.

Anderson and Rep. Warren Goemaere (D-Roseville) led a fight to block it on the House Conservation Committee. Then the appropriations committee, with two Upper Peninsula members, approved it.

The raging floor debate in the House rattled the glass ceiling. The issue was defeated, but the entire bill was tossed into a House-Senate conference committee.

"I'm a little pessimistic now," said Rep. John D. Payant (R-Kingsford). "There has been overwhelming opposition from the members from southeastern Michigan."

"They're arguing that it is too much money serving too few people."

Rep. Russell R. Hellman (D-Dollar Bay) said the first steps have been taken and the first money has been appropriated and that the job should be pursued.

"The only reason we need the extra money now is to make sure we preserve the esthetic value of the area," he said. "This will return more than the cost in naturally-spawned fingerlings in five years."

Ranged against the appropriation at this time are the powerful Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the Sierra Club who have opposed it here.

Anderson said the $250,000 would only finance the ladder at Manido Falls, the first of seven falls south of Lake Superior, that further ladders will have to be built.

Upper Peninsula legislators contend that most fish will be able to stair-step up the more gradual falls after Manido without an elaborate ladder.

Manido Falls has a 21-foot drop.

Part of the Anderson-Goemaere opposition is aimed at Senator Joseph S. Mack (D-Ironwood) who shepherds the bill through the Senate.

"Mack has promised he will get this pork chop for the Upper Peninsula," Anderson said. "The Presque Isle is a very scenic river and its attraction should be preserved."

Ralph A. MacMullan, director of the Department of Natural Resources, supports the idea but feels the money could be better used elsewhere in the conservation program.

"I would reaffirm that this fish passage is both feasible and desirable," he said in a letter to Hellman. "It can be constructed so as not to jeopardize the falls or detract from the esthetic quality."

"It is not 'bad conservation.' The only reason it has not been assigned a high department priority is because of high construction costs as compared to other urgently needed fisheries projects."

Wayne H. Tody, chief of the fisheries division, agreed with MacMullan that other new fisheries would have a greater "cost-benefit" ratio than the Presque Isle project.

He said that providing a fish passage up to Yondota Falls would make 146 miles of new spawning habitat for steelhead and other anadromous fish.

"Based on an estimate of 500,000 square yards of suitable spawning habitat and over 2 million square yards of rearing area, we can estimate an annual steelhead smolt production of 100,000 to 200,000 fish."

Hudson's Gets Ready For Fireworks Show

More than half a million people are expected to crowd the banks of the Detroit River July 1 for The J. L. Hudson Company's 12th annual fireworks show which highlights the Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival. The fireworks spectacular is scheduled to begin at 9 p.m.

Five tons of multi-colored, brilliant fireworks will burst at heights of 300 to 600 feet into the night sky. Everybody's favorite fireworks will be included: chrysanthemum shells, parachute, artillery, thunder, comet and peony shells. This year's grand finale will feature total color transformations. The sky will change from solid red to silver to yellow, blue, green, as the fireworks burst above the Detroit River.

The fireworks displays are under the direction of James Sorgi, a fifth generation pyrotechnician and owner of the American Fireworks Company, Hudson, Ohio. The team of 28 professional specialists works for two days preparing the show. They load four barges with 25 boxes of mortars braced in 75 tons of sand.

The day of the show, the barges are anchored in place in the Detroit River, one opposite Cobo Hall, another opposite the Veterans Memorial Building and the third opposite the Ford Auditorium. The center barge is used only for the grand

Reapportionment Looms As A Vital Issue

Because of the 1970 census, only recently completed, western Wayne County will be gaining representation at almost every government level.

It is possible that the next U.S. Congressman in the 15th and 19th Districts will be elected from an area much smaller than the present districts and it is possible that most of these districts will be in western Wayne County.

The next State Senators from western Wayne County will represent a much smaller area, and even fewer people than at present. The 13th State Senate District is currently the largest in population in the state.

Western Wayne county voters will send more persons to the House of Representatives in Lansing than ever before. Each individual district will become smaller in area.

Similarly, the balance of power on the Board of County Commissioners may swing to out-county areas, and western Wayne County will be one of the beneficiaries of that swing.

What is more, each person in the Western Wayne County area will find his vote is going to be worth more when he goes to the polls.

All of this will happen because of a fairly recent invention called reapportionment. Reapportionment means that congressional, state senate, state representative and county commission district must all be adjusted to make sure that each district includes roughly the same number of persons.

This is called the one-man, one-vote mechanism for making sure that each citizen has a proportionate share of power to move his government.

It wasn't always this way, of course. Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois was fighting right up to the time of his death to give states the right to have at least one house of their legislatures apportioned on a population and area basis.

If you live in the city or suburbs, one-man, one-vote is a fine idea. To rural voters, it represents the loss of considerable power.

So, in the next session of the Michigan State Legislature, the 1970 census population figures will be consulted and planning for the drawing of legislative districts in western Wayne and the rest of Michigan will begin.

It is likely to be a long struggle and a politically damaging period for Michigan. With the political futures of some legislators at stake, there will probably be no way to completely satisfy everyone.

Following the 1960 census, the state legislature fought for four years before the State Supreme Court finally decreed a reapportionment plan. There was chaos for sometime, and one might remember that Michigan elected a Congressman-at-Large in 1962 because there had been no apportionment decision.

We are concerned that the 1970's will bring another long and useless battle over reapportionment. There is no reason why it could not happen again.

This result would be unfortunate in western Wayne. For one thing, a battle would put off the time when the rapidly growing areas of Western Wayne would gain the representation they have been waiting to get since 1961. By the time a decision is made, it could mean that the census figures will already be out of date.

In addition, a political infight of some duration would inevitably mean less attention to the problems of the State, and no one can afford that.

The representatives Michigan elects to the state legislature this year will make the decision on how Michigan will be reapportioned. During the coming campaign, let us ask the candidates what they think about this issue — a vital one for western Wayne County.

Administrative Raises Unfair To Students

The grim spectre of half-day sessions last year in some Livonia public schools seemed only a figment of the imagination last week as the Board of Education approved whopping salary raises for nearly all administrative personnel.

Money was no object as board members unanimously okayed the largest wage increase of all to Supt. Rolland H. Upton, upon whose recommendation half-day classes were instituted.

The nearly 17 per cent salary for Upton, from $30,000 annually to $35,000, made pay hikes of four to nine per cent in the new teacher's contract look like those from another planet!

Also given the board's blessing were salary boosts from $27,500 to $30,000 for the newly-created position of deputy superintendent, from $24,000 to $25,900 for personnel director, from $24,000 to $26,500 for two directors of education, and from $21,500 to $24,500 for business manager.

Healthy pay increases also were handed out to almost all of the Livonia district's administrative personnel, including high school and elementary principals.

This action of the Livonia board in granting administrative pay boosts ranging to 17 per cent is an insult to the taxpayers of the school district! Last year, the board waged an intensive propaganda campaign to convince affected mothers and fathers of the absolute need for half-day sessions and of the dire financial straits of the school system.

Now a few short months later, a "miracle" has occurred which has transformed the financial status of the Livonia School District from one of near bankruptcy (if one were to believe last year's weekly communiques) into one of impregnable solvency.

Last year, district residents were treated to the school administration's alibis for half-days. These included the unrealistic policy of cutting school programs and services across the board (not enough could be saved) and claims that revenues coming from the state were considerably less than anticipated.

All of a sudden this year, and at a very early time in the new budget year, we are given to believe that plenty of money is on hand to meet all contingencies, including the all important one of sizable salary increases for the staff of administrators, the same people who last year urged the board to institute half days!

In one respect, district taxpayers deserve this crowning insult to their intelligences and to their pocketbooks. The apathy and indifference shown by Livonia School District residents at the recent school election leaves them no excuse for decisions made by a board elected by so few voters.

In view of the board's drastic action last year in okaying half-day classes and this year's move to dispense unwarranted pay boosts to administrative personnel, we urge an impartial and objective review of the school district's financing by a neutral group of accountants.

Cost of the undertaking could be financed by donations from district residents under sponsorship of a citizen body created for the purpose of studying school finances.

The plan is a workable and practical one in view of irate district parents last year who banded together to take the fight for restoration of full-day classes to the Michigan Supreme Court.

Whatever the cost of a project to find out what is really going on financially in the Livonia School District, taxpayers will be many dollars ahead in the long run. Answers must be obtained as to how the school district can jump from a position of insufficient funds to assure a quality education to one of more than enough cash to hand out liberal pay hikes to top administrative staff members.

Questions Need Answering

By DANN BARKUME

Is it worth it to buy insurance these days?

Auto, home, fire, life, etc. It seems that John Q. Public is plagued by high premiums, slow action on claims and the constant fear of cancellations. Surveys have been taken, comments made, yet the pall of the insurance companies hangs over all of us.

Auto insurance claims up to $1,000 have not been reported for fear of cancellation. People whose homes have been hit by fire have waited as long as six months to a year in order to get some action. Life insurance policies continue to climb with the benefits received being only enough to provide for the cost of the funeral. The never ending circle goes on.

Insurance is designed to be an aid to the citizen in the time of illness, accident or calamity. It has been classified as a saving for that rainy day, yet people seem afraid to try and take advantage of that aid when the clouds begin to form because of the run around given by the insurance companies.

Despite all the trouble caused, insurance is necessary to everyone. In theory it provides protection to people who can't afford it in times of extreme need. Most people use their insurance benefits only on occasion, some can go through a lifetime without making a claim; but the fear of cancellation or excessive delay hangs over all of us when the time comes for us to use the benefits we are supposed to receive when we take out a policy.

It is not our right to accuse the insurance companies of mishandling of accounts, but we do have a right to question the method of operation when we wait for such a long time for a claim to be paid. Insurance companies themselves seem hesitant to explain their side of the story, the common reply to questions is "we're working on it."

Why not let the policy holders know just what is being done. In today's complex society most undertakings take more time than they did even 10 years ago; more red tape is involved and claims are more complex than ever before. A common insurance policy is as big as a book and the holder needs a law degree to figure out what all that fine print means. Some explanation by the insurance companies involved seems justified.

There are probably some good reasons for excessive delays in the payment of claims. Policy holders, however, do not have the insight that insurance companies have and the policy holders should be made aware of the conditions that face the insurance companies when they make a claim payment.

We need to clear the air and perhaps a little understanding on both sides will help eliminate some of the questions and the fears.

Insurance is and should be a valuable investment providing protection and security to everyone. It's not fair for policy holders to be kept in the dark when so many questions have arisen regarding premiums and payment of claims.

Delays might be a little easier to understand if the policyholder knew why it takes so long for him to receive payment on a claim when he has waited six months for payment after he was told he would receive full benefit in six weeks.

Listen: 'Thirty And Out'

By DICK McKNIGHT

We will be hearing the cry, "Thirty and Out," more often in western Wayne County in the coming months.

The slogan represents the demand of the United Auto Workers union for a retirement plan that will put its members out to pasture after thirty years of labor for the Big Three auto companies.

If the UAW wins the retirement plan during its coming negotiations with the auto companies, the number of retired residents in western Wayne County could jump tremendously in a short period of time.

There are already many western Wayne residents who would qualify for retirement as soon as such a program goes into effect. They are, to a great extent, the same men whose presence in the Detroit area caused the explosion of population into the suburbs.

They came just before and just after World War II to work in the factories of Detroit. They married and began to raise families, and their children are entering maturity now. In order to house them and their families, subdivision after subdivision was built in the suburbs.

With World War II now a full 25 years in the past, the cry of 'Thirty and Out' is music to the ears of these men whose toil in the plants has tired them out.

Those who came to Detroit before the war had the advantage of having their years of war service counted into their seniority time. So, anyone who began working for the Big Three after 1940 would now be eligible for retirement under the proposed plan.

Whether the new retirement plan will be good for western Wayne remains to be seen, but there are some obvious effects that would be felt as the older men retire.

A wealth of new jobs should open up immediately. Filling these positions would be younger men — many of them the sons of those who will be eligible for retirement.

The hardcore jobless, particularly in Detroit, would also benefit. While the auto companies have had to make special provisions for hiring the jobless, the new retirement plan would open enough jobs to assure the hardcore unemployed of at least a decent chance of permanent employment.

Chances are that the men who would retire, most of them around the age of 50, would be adding something to the community in a parttime way. Many would seek second jobs, or volunteer community activities.

Most importantly, perhaps, the sight of UAW workers retiring at 50 is likely to stir increasing pressure for lower retirement ages in other areas of occupation. The lowering of the retirement age (that many think will not come anytime soon) could begin to snowball with a UAW bargaining table victory.

The face of western Wayne County is changing, and 1970 could be a new turning point.

Lift Up Your Head

Inkster Split Worth Changing

BY ROSEMARY WOLOCK

Except for its city government, Inkster is split in half. For purpose of representation in the legislature, finding a telephone number, counting noses in the census and probably many other things, Inkster is divided along township lines.

The Nankin Township half of Inkster, that which is west of Inkster Rd., is in the West Area Telephone Directory. The Dearborn Township half, which is east of Inkster Rd., is in the Detroit Directory.

Half of Inkster is represented by State Rep. Vincent Petitpre, State Sen. William Faust, and County Commissioner Ralph Turco. The other half is represented by State Rep. Alex Pilch, State Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, and County Commissioner John Lesinski.

Even for purposes of the recent national census, the population for the Nankin Township half was calculated in the Livonia census office, while the Dearborn Township half was calculated in the Dearborn office.

Frankly it's ridiculous. Aside from the annoyance of having to have two telephone directories and waiting longer for census results because two different groups were involved in the census-taking, the most serious question is one of representation.

Some people might say that two senators, two representatives, and two county commissioners are better than one, but I disagree. Any office holder who has 40,000 Inksterites in his constituency is going to be more concerned about them than if he has 20,000 and somebody else has the other 20,000.

This is not to criticize the legislators. I'm just saying Inkster would certainly have more political clout if it were represented by a single senator, a single representative and a single commissioner.

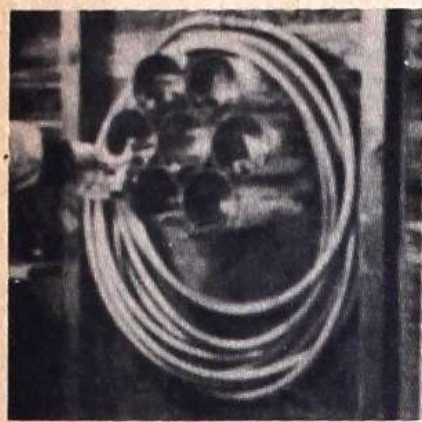

Nankin Township and Dearborn Township are no longer viable political entities. Nankin Township is now Westland, Wayne and Garden City. Dearborn Township is now Dearborn Heights and West Dearborn. And it's been that way for several years.

It's about time that the outmoded township way of thinking is abandoned and Inkster is treated as an entity of its own, a community with more than 100 years of history behind it and one that deserves its place in the scheme of things.

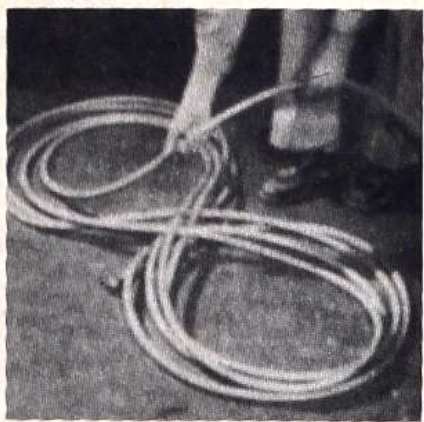

I hope particularly that the state legislature will keep this problem in view as reapportionment of legislative districts is taken up in the next session.

Proper Care Can Extend Life Of Hose

Repairs Can Be Made Easily, Cheaply

HOSE AGES FAST

USE FIGURE 8

Hose, whether it's rubber or plastic, ages fast in summer sun. So hang up your hose when it's not in use.

If you don't desire to buy some type of hanger from a store, you merely need a circle of juice cans or an old bucket screwed to the garage or tool house wall. The cans or bucket will provide storage space for small tools.

A shortcut for both storage and unwinding your hose consists of coiling it into a figure eight. Pull the hose out straight to eliminate kinks and lay it in a figure eight.

Then fold the hose into a circle for storing.

When used, the hose will uncoil freely without the usual kinking or twisting.

Accessories can save time and lengthen the life of a hose. Most wear comes from sharp bends and twists that break fibers or weaken plastic or rubber. Several attachments are available.

One type of attachment will let the hose swivel freely. A quick hitch coupling makes fast work of moving the hose from faucet to faucet. A spring-powered catch will keep the coupling tight, preventing leaks.

Another quick coupling works on the principle of the sleeve fitting over the fixture on the faucet and being held by a metal bearing. To attach the hose, just push up on outside sleeve.

Clamp and gripper fastenings can speed hose repairs.

When a break appears near the end, cut off the damaged section and trim the end square. Insert the gripper-type replacement coupling — either male or female, as necessary.

Soap the hose to make joining easier. Tap grippers down around the hose.

USE HOSE SWIVEL

Clamp-type bands are used to fasten couplings. For a snug fit, the inside diameter of the closed band should be slightly smaller than outside diameter of the hose. Tighten the screw so the band will fasten the hose securely to the coupling.

To splice a hose, cut out the damaged section and square off the ends. A band of tape around the hose makes a good guide for squaring up the ends.

Tap the grippers before inserting half of the hose. Be careful not to fasten grippers so tight that they cut the hose.

QUICK COUPLER HELPS

Small breaks in plastic sprinklers can be repaired with materials in a small kit that you can buy. The kit contains patches and a special solvent.

Cut a patch to cover the leak, rounding the edges carefully. Remove the backing from the patch and apply solvent to start adhesive action.

Press the patch firmly in place and let it dry. The sprinkler will be ready to use.

To repair plastic hose, cut out the damaged section and square up the ends. Square ends are necessary for a watertight union since plastic has less flexibility than a rubber hose. Use a straightedge block as a guide when you make the cut. The block will also help steady the hose.

Before attaching the repair coupling, soften the plastic. One method calls for dipping the end of the hose in hot water — near boiling — for about 20 seconds. Soften only the first half inch of the hose this way since additional softening may cause the hose to buckle behind the coupling.

A candle also provides an effective way to soften the end of the plastic hose to be repaired. Hold the cut end over the candle flame and swirl it to heat the end evenly. Just soften the plastic. Don't heat it until it sags. As in the hot water technique, soften only a half inch on the end.

While the plastic is still soft, insert the metal coupling. Use the key provided with the coupling unit to thread the screw into the plastic. The couplers may vary in details, but the basic principle of all makes is similar.

Read carefully directions provided by the manufacturer before starting the repair job.

Wayne County Offers New Service To Residents

A new telephone service for residents of Wayne County (outside of Detroit proper) was announced today by George Corcoran, director of the Wayne Planning Division, United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit (UCS).

Corcoran said that the new telephone service enables residents of this area to receive immediate help on "where to go for health, welfare, and social problems" by dialing a new toll free number, 1-800-552-1183. The new service is one of the newly implemented recommendations in the reorganization plan of the total UCS operation.

Persons calling 1-800-552-1183 will be helped by Community Information Service, a department of UCS. This unit provides experienced social work counselors and trained volunteers to "diagnose" the problem and to "prescribe" one of the many community agencies best equipped to help.

Whether the problem is an aged father, or a disturbed child, a faltering marriage, or eviction from a home, a disabled employee, or a destitute medical patient, the UCS Community Information Service offers prompt, confidential assistance to all — without charge.

According to Evelyn M. Fraser, associate executive of UCS' Central Services, the most frequent calls come from people who need personal counseling, nursing care in the home, facilities for the aged, psychiatric treatment for children or adults, legal aid, day care, adoption, camping facilities for children, and financial aid. Miss Fraser pointed out that Community Information Service operates as a link between people who need help and the help they need.

Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Mich.) today announced the speakers who will address the Business Expansion Conference on June 25 in Ann Arbor. The conference is the first of its kind in Michigan.

Said Esch, "These men have a wide range of knowledge about the governmental programs available to help businessmen expand their business. In addition to discussing business matters with the entire group, they will be available for individual consultation. I will comment on potential federal legislation and participate in discussions."

The conference is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m., Thursday, June 25, at the Ann Arbor Public Library, Fourth Avenue and William Street in downtown Ann Arbor.

The speakers are:

Frank A. Alter, Director, Detroit Field Office, U.S. Department of Commerce, Detroit.

Robert F. Phillips, Regional Director, Small Business Administration, Detroit.

Eddie McGloin, Director, Federal Housing Administration, Detroit.

Forrest Brown, Business Analyst, General Services Administration, Chicago.

Donald Lehey, Small Business Specialist, Services Division, Defense Contract Administration, Detroit.

churches, clubs and organizations."

The new telephone service available toll-free by UCS for Wayne County residents outside Detroit proper is a Torch Drive Service.

Said Esch, "In our complex world it is difficult to keep up with governmental programs even in specific areas. That's why businessmen will find it advantageous to hear from federal experts the range of services available to help them expand their business. The availability of loans from the Small Business Administration is just one such example."

Esch added, "All businessmen from our area are cordially invited to attend this meeting. Those planning to do so should notify my Ann Arbor office at 665-0618."

Esch and the Second District Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the conference.

470,000 full-time students ages 18 to 21 who receive over $34,000,000 per month in social security student benefits. This money makes it possible for many people to continue their education. This amount of money exceeds all scholarships in effect.

There are approximately

Faust Resolution Calls For Drug Study

Senator William Faust (D-Westland) introduced a resolution last Wednesday calling for a special committee to study drugs and drug addicts.

The resolution would look into the concept of authorizing certain physicians to prescribe narcotics to drug addicts. Faust said, "This segment of our society is trapped in an endless circle of hopelessness and it is like a snow ball going down hill. Drug addicts are caught in a net of addiction, they need money to support their habit, they commit crimes to get money to support their habit, the habit becomes more firmly addictive, so they have to commit further crimes to support their habit, and so on, ad infinitum.

"I am of the opinion," Faust continued, "that we must come up with definitive answers to this problem in our society. Drug abuse and related crimes against persons and property are rising at an alarming rate, while federal and state agencies, using traditional deterrents of jail sentences and fines, have not been able to contain these increases. Then too, there are the thousands of 'hidden' addicts now receiving no treatment, and are perhaps on the verge of joining the ranks of the hard addicts in the growing crime rate."

Faust cited an innovative approach currently in use in England, where the Dangerous Drug Acts have established a program whereby certain licensed physicians working in hospitals or drug treatment centers, may legally prescribe narcotic drugs for addicts, while the addicts are concurrently treated in psychotherapeutic programs they desperately need. Thus, the addicts no longer are forced to seek and pay exorbitant rates for illegal drugs, and therefore need no longer resort to crime to support their illness.

The resolution specifically calls for the creation of a special Senate Committee of five members to act now and during the recess between the 1970 and 1971 regular sessions of the Legislature.

All the rivers in Arkansas flow to the south and east.

U-M Dearborn Grads Take Honors, Degrees

DEARBORN—More than 103 seniors received degrees from the University of Michigan's Dearborn campus at a commencement ceremonies held June 14.

The graduating class, highest in the school's history, held an unusually high number of distinguished honor students.

Awards for high academic excellence were presented to 44 students.

University of Michigan vice-president Stephen Spurr delivered the commencement address. Dr. Spurr's remarks centered on the need to maintain diversity within academic communities. Alluding to current unrest on campuses, the U-M administrator admitted the difficulty of bringing together diverse opinions.

"In the final analysis, however, the university must commit itself to both radicals and conservatives, blacks and whites, as well as a wide range of degree programs," Spurr added.

Area students who received degrees at the commencement ceremonies:

From Garden City: Marvin J. Hartwig, Jr. of 33330 Florence, BS in mathematics and Catherine M. McCarthy of 512 Deering a Bachelor of Arts Degree.

Smith, high honors with a bachelor of arts degree, Viva M. Stieber of 14140 Hubbard Rd, honors with a BA in education, Jacqueline R. Whiting of 36066 Whitecomb Dr., honors with a BA in social studies.

PEEK-A-BOO — Hiding behind a tree isn't such a good idea when you're a Michigan black bear. Particularly, when you have the definite feeling you're being watched.

TREES ARE FOR SHAKING — "I wonder what's up there," the bear seems to be asking. A couple of good shakes should bring out anything that might be hanging loose.

A Bruin's Peaceful Prowl

Associated Newspapers' Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko was in Montmorency County, Mich., near Atlanta, when he caught these photos of a Michigan black bear on a twilight foray in the woods.

"I knew he was around because of the broken tree limbs near the ground where he had been prowling," Lothar said. "I put out some beef suet I usually have for the birds and pretty soon he came around."

It was between 5 and 6 p.m. on a spring evening, Lothar said, when he took the photos with a telephoto lens, and with a minimum of available light.

The bear largely ignored the snapping of the shutter, but gave Lothar a start once when he looked threateningly into the camera before heading back into his forest lair.

The Michigan black bear is becoming less and less at home in Michigan's lower peninsula, and so Lothar, a former Bavarian forest ranger, considers his photo series a particularly special stroke of luck.

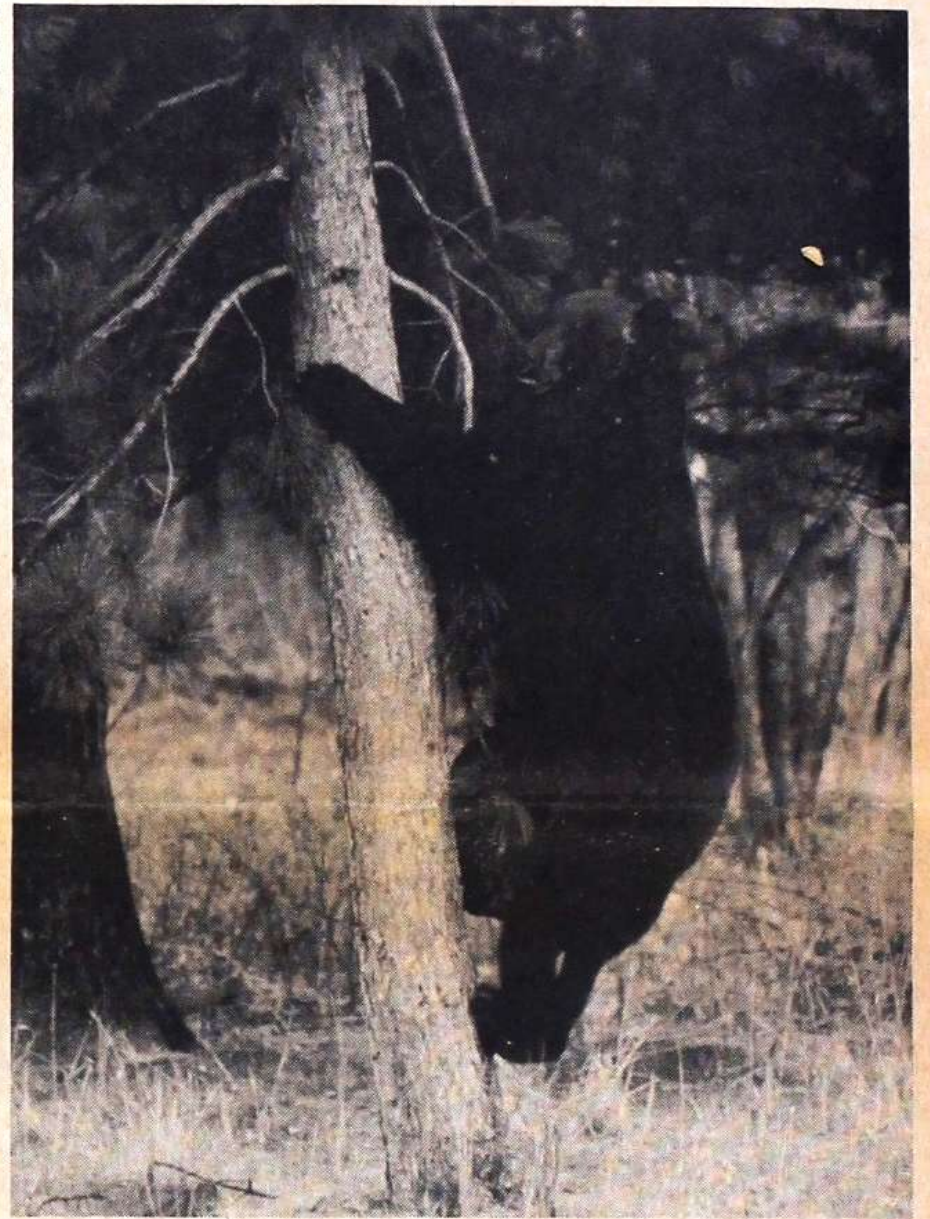

Was he scared? "The bear was very peaceful," Lothar says, "But I'm glad I had my telephoto lens with me."

Photo Feature
By Lothar Konietzko,
Chief Photographer

WORTH THE EFFORT — A piece of beef suet left hanging on the branches for the birds is worth every bit of the effort necessary, even though it doesn't amount to more than a good gulp.

GETTING A TOE-HOLD — Toenails are good for something, particularly climbing pine trees. And with that nice fur coat, the sharp needles aren't even a bother.

HOME TO BED — The day's foraging completed, the furry beast beats a path home in search of a warm bed. All that exercise should put this bear to sleep as soon as nature turns out the lights.

A GOOD LOOK AT THINGS — If there is anything in this tree, it must have been scared away by now. Getting back down could be a problem — one leap or a long slide.

CHECK FOR FLAWS — Mike Grigsby, Bob McLaren, and his wife Nancy, inspect a late model Ford for safety defects as part of the Ford Drag Club's Safety Inspection project to be held on Saturday, June 27, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Spitler Demmer Ford, Michigan at Newburgh Rd.

Drag Club Sponsors Auto Safety Check

Have your car safety ready, June 27, and take it to Spitler-Demmer Ford for a check.

The Ford Drag Club plans to hold what it hopes is the first annual car safety inspection at the dealership between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Brakes, lights, wipers, exhaust systems, and mirrors will be inspected by about 25 club members on an assembly line type set up under the supervision of two Westland Police officers.

"The motto of our club is 'Safety and Performance,'" said Robert McLaren, club treasurer. "This is our first project, and if it's successful, we'd like to continue it yearly."

The club was formed about three months ago by safety minded car buffs. "Our aim is to keep these kids off the streets while they race," said McLaren. "We'd like to get them all on sanctioned strips, and away from danger."

The approximately 80 members meet monthly, to discuss safety on the road and how to improve performance on the strip.

Anyone is free to join.

"Our youngest member is a ten year old. He came in second for our patch design contest," said McLaren.

The treasurer said that any person who is interested in safety and car performance is free to join the club, be he a Chevy, Dodge, Ford, or Rambler addict.

The club is sponsored by Spitler-Demmer Ford, in Wayne. The dealership donates space for club meetings, but "the club pays its own way," said McLaren.

Anyone interested in joining, man, woman or child, is asked to contact Skip Anderson, at Spitler-Demmer.

Safety minded people are asked to mark June 27, on their calendar. If you can drive your car to the corner of Michigan and Newburgh Rds., there will be qualified people waiting to check your car.

All eight parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority are in readiness for the Fourth of July week-end extending from Friday, July 3 through Sunday, July 5.

The parks offer a wide variety of recreation within the counties of Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne. Here is a summary of events and facilities:

Metropolitan Beach along Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens. The major attraction is a gigantic fireworks display over the waterfront on Saturday, July 4, starting at 9 p.m.

Music for "Dancing Under the Stars" will be provided by Bob Durant and his orchestra on Saturday, July 4. Dance hours are 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

For a wonderful ride, climb aboard one of the three trackless trains which transports passengers and their picnic equipment to the Point Huron Picnic Area. Fares are 20 cents for the 2 1/4 mile round trip or 10 cents for a one-way trip.

Swimming is available along the 1 1/4 mile sandy beach and swimming pool until dusk. Other facilities include two marinas, boat launching ramps, 18-hole "Par 3" golf course, archery range, games area, outdoor roller skating rink, 20 shuffleboard courts, open-air dance pavilion, the boardwalk, tot lot and children's play areas.

All special events are free except for the usual 50-cent parking charge. Park hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily except Saturday or Sunday when dances are held to midnight, and a 5 a.m. opening for boaters. Entrance to the 550-acre park is at the junction of Metropolitan Parkway and Jefferson Avenue, four miles southeast of Mt. Clemens. For additional information, phone 963-3022.

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica. This large 3,500 acre recreation site offers a wide variety of recreation. Swimming is available 9 a.m. to dusk at Baypoint and Eastwood Beaches along Stony Creek Lake. The beachhouse has heated showers, restrooms, dressing rooms, coin-operated lockers and food service. There are six large picnic areas with water and sanitary facilities and some have playground equipment, a large boat launching ramp, areas for shore fishing, nature trails and a nature center. Park hours are 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. The most direct route to the park is to travel the Van Dyke (M-53) freeway six miles north of Utica and travel about 2 miles west along 26 Mile Road to the park entrance. Phone 781-4242.

Marshbank Metropolitan Park southwest of Pontiac. This 115-acre tract is primarily a picnic-playground type park. Cooling breezes from Cass Lake and shade trees make this a favorite family picnic spot. No swimming is permitted. Park hours are 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The park entrance is along Hiller Road near the junction of Commerce Road. Phone: 685-1561.

Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford. This 4,300 acre site is one of the largest and most popular parks in southeastern Michigan. Swimming facilities include two bathing beaches along Kent Lake, each with dressing rooms, showers, first aid stations, food service and coin-operated lockers.

There are 13 large picnic areas in the park, many with shelters and playground equipment. Several miles of roadway provide a scenic drive and there is a boat rental building, two boat launching ramps, pier fishing, golf course, nature trails and a nature center. Swimming hours are 9 a.m. to dusk and only at the beach sites.

A special attraction for many visitors is a cruise aboard the "Island Queen" excursion boat, which is a replica of an old Mississippi Riverboat. The 45-minute tours are available noon through 6 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays only and charges are 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

Park hours are sunrise to 11 p.m. The park entrance is along the I-96 (Grand River) Freeway between Milford and Brighton. For additional information phone 685-1561.

Lower Huron

Metropolitan Park near Belleville. This scenic 1,000-acre site is located along the Huron River and has several large picnic areas, shelters and play equipment. Swimming hours at the pool are 9 a.m. to dusk daily and food service opens at 10 a.m. and closes at dusk. The bathhouse has heated showers, dressing rooms and coin-operated lockers for clothes checking.

Other park facilities include the 18-hole "Par 3" golf course, a small nature center and nature trails which are labelled for self-guided hikes.

NAACP Opens Drive For Area Membership

The membership committee of the Inkster branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is currently undertaking a membership drive throughout western Wayne County.

NAACP spokesman Mack Mayfield of Westland said the drive is needed to bolster the group's strength in order to be more effective in backing up persons whose rights might be threatened.

"When people are having trouble because of discrimination, whatever the cause," Mayfield said, "We want to be able to stand behind them and strengthen their position. This is our goal."

Memberships begin at a basic $4 per year per person, and memberships for $6, $10, $25, $100 and even $500 for a senior life membership are available. Memberships beginning at $6 or more include a subscription to the group's magazine, "Crisis."

Persons interested in obtaining memberships should call Mayfield at 722-5653, membership drive chairman Joe David at LO 5-9779, or Parham's Barber Shop, 4328 S. Inkster Rd., Inkster, at 563-0055. Membership forms are available at the barber shop.

Special membership rates are available for students under 17, at $1, and for those aged 17-21 at $2 per year.

"We would like to see more people of all kinds joining the group," Mayfield said, "It is important for us to learn about coexistence within our communities."

Dinner To Aid Levin Campaign

Raising money for a media advertising campaign will be primary goal of a $125 per couple dinner for Democratic gubernatorial candidate, Sander Levin, Saturday, July 11th, Campaign Manager, John O'Meara announced recently.

The dinner will be held in the Riverside Room, Cobo Hall, Detroit. Cocktails will be at 6:30 p.m., dinner at 8 p.m., and dancing at 9:30 p.m.

O'Meara. "We're counting on the proceeds from this event to finance our efforts to put Sander Levin's record and program before the public."

Tickets for the dinner can be obtained by writing Levin For Governor Committee, 400 Michigan Building, Detroit, Michigan (313) 962-3480 or Lansing (517) 487-5935.
